Government Will Control Debt If Victoria Refunds

City Must Turn Over Sinking Funds and Subject Further Borrowings to Provincial Decision If Conversion Approved, Minister Informs Committee; Also Objects to Authorizing Henley Payment

Before the provincial government will approve Victoria's proposed refunding bill the city must agree to turn over its sinking funds for the new issue to government control and must agree to let the government pass judgment on all future borrowings of the city, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipalities, informed the private bills committee of the B.C. Legislature this morning when the Victoria bill was under consideration. The government has followed this policy in other municipal refunding schemes.

Mr. Gray also said the government did not agree to a clause in the bill which empowered the city to pay Charles Henley $30,000 when there appeared to be some question as to its legal right.

Raising of these points put the status of the new bill, a measure which would vest in the government power to ratify any refunding scheme agreed upon, in an atmosphere of uncertainty.

H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, said he had no instructions on the points raised and would have to get them from the council.

"My instructions were that the sinking funds would remain in the hands of the city. It is a big undertaking to turn over our entire sinking funds to government control and I could not take the responsibility now," said the solicitor.

TWO ALDERMEN IN FAVOR

Aldermen Walter Lunney and J. D. Hunter said they did not personally have any objection to that feature. "It would be a safeguard for our finances. And if the government had control over our future borrowings it would stop reckless expenditure," said Alderman Lunney.

MacDonald In Quick Recovery

British Ex-Premier Fainted Yesterday Evening at Banquet; Takes Usual Walk Today

London, Nov. 10.—Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, seventy-year-old Lord President of the Council and former Prime Minister, had recovered today from an attack of indigestion which caused him to faint during the Lord Mayor's banquet yesterday evening.

Mr. MacDonald took his usual walk this morning from his home in Hampstead Heath.

During Prime Minister Baldwin's plea for "peace preparedness," the elderly statesman collapsed, spreading consternation among distinguished guests in the ancient Guild Hall yesterday evening.

In a hushed voice, Mr. Baldwin had turned a moment before from his review of Great Britain's foreign policy to appeal to diplomats and politicians gathered for the traditionally resplendent Lord Mayor's dinner.

Mr. MacDonald, seated a short distance from Mr. Baldwin and wearing the sword and uniform of the Lord President of the Council, suddenly half rose from his chair.

AIRED BY DAUGHTER

Isabel MacDonald caught her father's arm. With the help of an attendant, she assisted the "Trickster" statesman from the banquet hall to an ante-room, where Viscount Dawson of Penn, physician to King Edward, attended him.

Applause echoed through the room at Mr. Baldwin's mention of Britain's rearmament and drowned two whoppers of dissent among Mr. MacDonald's condition.

Later, revived although still pale and weak, Mr. MacDonald was taken home.

Baby Derby Draws Courthouse Spectators

The Toronto scene pictured above may be repeated November 16, for on that date some of the mothers in the Charles Vance Millar $500,000 contest, and all their lawyers, will return to Osgoode Hall to hear what Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton has to say about their claims, now being listed in affidavits. A curious crowd lined the courthouse lawn fence on Queen Street a few days ago—as shown by the photo—when two of the mothers entered the building for the first hearing. Of the seventeen women, only six are regarded as strong contenders. Several have ten children each, but not all are registered.

LIQUOR BILL $16,000,000

In Six Months British Columbia's Spent $7,800,000; Government Profits Up 20 Per Cent

British Columbians spent approximately $7,800,000 on beer, wine and hard liquor in the six months ending September 30 and will have a liquor bill in the current fiscal year of some $16,000,000.

This was the estimate based on figures supplied by the Liquor Control Board today showing total sales by the board during the six months of $6,048,991, an increase of $632,380 over the corresponding period of last year. Corresponding sales last year were $5,416,610.

The board figures give only the wholesale price on beer sold through licensed premises, so that the total expenditure by the public was roughly $7,800,000.

Government profits in the six months increased by $251,110 from $1,250,241 to $1,501,351.

Beer drinkers played a big part in swelling the sales, by consuming something like $6,000,000 glasses of beer in the parlors of the province. In addition they consumed $1,047,576 of beer in bottled form.

Sales of spirits such as whiskey, brandy, rum and gin, increased from $2,287,595 to $2,675,962.

British Columbia wines fetched $218,927 against $206,775 and the purchases of South African wines gained from $62,424 to $76,368.

PREMIER'S MESSAGE

Prime Minister King today issued a "Poppy Day" message to the nation declaring that this year in a special way, because of the pilgrimage of Canadian veterans to the Memorial on Vimy Ridge unveiled by King Edward last summer, had been one of remembrance.

The message said: "Remembrance Day brings to our thoughts anew the sorrows, the suffering, the sacrifice of our brave men and women who gave their lives in the Great War. In every town and village across the breadth of the Dominion, groups will gather around cairns and granite shafts, memorials to those who died on the battlefields of Europe, and at the eleventh hour observe two minutes' of silent remembrance. The silence will be broken by the bugle sounding the Last Post or by the tolling of church bells in those places where church services of remembrance are held."

Advance Columns Said to Have Forded Manzanares River, But Loyalists Report Their Lines Still Holding

By ALBERT GRAND

Madrid, Nov. 10.—Insurgent bombers today blasted huge craters in the streets of Madrid preparatory to a mass entry by Gen. Jose Varela's rebel army.

Part of the southern quarter of the capital was in smoking ruins as the insurgent fliers concentrated their attack in that section to prevent the Socialists from maintaining a foothold for street fighting.

Fire broke out in the neighborhood of the municipal gas works and it was believed the plant itself was on fire. Reports from within the capital also said the north railway station had been destroyed.

SAY RIVER FORDED

Advance columns of Moors and foreign legionnaires forded the Manzanares River and completed a circle around the outskirts of the capital with the exception of a small sector near the Barcelona road, which still is held by strong detachments of entrenched government militia.

After crossing the Manzanares, the insurgent advance guard pushed on to the Calle de Toledo and then, fearing a government ambush, they halted to permit Fascist planes and artillery to bomb and shell the district before risking a further advance into the capital.

Alaska Ships Lie Idle at Vancouver

Arrangements Made to Discharge Ss. President Jefferson Here Tomorrow; Alaska Short of Foodstuffs During U.S. Port Strike; Passengers Are Stranded in Honolulu

Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Two more Alaska freighters, the Ss. Odana of the Alaska Steamship Co. and the Ss. Northland of the Northland Transportation Co., today were added to three others already tied up here owing to the United States Pacific coast maritime strike.

The American Mail Line offices here have been advised that arrangements have been made to handle the Ss. President Jefferson at Victoria when she arrives on this coast tomorrow.

It was previously announced the vessel would probably proceed to Vancouver as Victoria longshoremen had refused to handle the cargo.

MEETING TODAY

Locals of various British Columbia waterfront and labor organizations met today to discuss proposals made at a general conference here last Sunday for ways and means of assisting the striking United States unions. The delegates will meet here again tomorrow to decide what action will be taken.

H. Burgess, secretary of the Vancouver Longshoremen's Association, the organization now handling cargo in Vancouver, announced yesterday, however, that his organization was not represented at the conference and has been advised that arrangements have been made to handle the Ss. President Jefferson at Victoria when she arrives on this coast tomorrow.

Peace Message From Australia

Canberra, Australia, Nov. 10.—Australia supports to her utmost collaboration between the English-speaking peoples in the cause of international peace, said Prime Minister J. A. Lyons in an Armistice Day message today.

"I like to believe the warlike preparations in the world today are more a manifestation of a groundless fear than a deliberate intention of anyone to repeat the carnage and horror of the Great War."

British-Italian Agreement Near

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 10.—Great Britain and Italy have made rapid strides in the past few days toward a solution of their differences, informed sources indicated today.

As a result, observers believed concrete negotiations toward a Mediterranean agreement might be expected shortly.

Reports that Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, was coming to London soon for this purpose were called "preliminary," however.

The London Morning Post said: "There is a strong possibility that a gentlemen's agreement will be concluded before long."

Amalgamation of Services Is Urged

Premier Hepburn of Ontario Will Lay Before Dominion Government Plan For Unification of Federal and Provincial Health, Labor and Agriculture Offices

Toronto, Nov. 10.—Amalgamation of the federal and provincial health services, labor administration and agricultural inspection services is expected soon to be proposed to the Dominion Government by Premier Hepburn of Ontario.

The Premier, addressing a banquet of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce here yesterday evening, said suggestions would be made in an effort to reduce governmental costs and lighten the tax burden on industries seeking to compete in world markets.

Agreeing with the contention Canada has "too much government," Mr. Hepburn said this was one method by which he believed the industries of the province could be aided.

Today Premier Hepburn said the merger to be proposed at an early date would not result in elimination of any of the existing portfolios in the Ontario government, but would eliminate duplication of activities.

Canadian Press
Charlottetown, P.E.I., Nov. 10.—There is room for amalgamation in the federal and provincial departments of health and agriculture, Premier Thane A. Campbell of Prince Edward Island said today in commenting on Premier Hepburn's speech yesterday evening before the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce. He was doubtful, however, if union of federal and provincial labor departments would be of any value.

Conditions of labor varied in different provinces, he pointed out, and Prince Edward Island's labor problems were totally different from those of Ontario.

DISCUSSION DECEMBER 9

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 10.—Proposal of Premier Hepburn of Ontario for merging of certain Dominion and provincial government departments in the direction of economy, a matter of interest to government officials here, today proved one on which it was difficult to get official comment.

Amalgamation of federal government departments has been carried on by the present government on a wide scale in the year it has been in office, but merging of Dominion and provincial departments would be an altogether different matter, and even though the Ontario government were willing to make the experiment it would be a matter for all the provinces to agree on.

COMMENTS WITHHELD
Pending further information on Mr. Hepburn's proposals, officials here were not inclined to discuss them. The forthcoming meeting of Dominion and provincial treasury officials called by Finance Minister Dunning for December 9, while not a full-fledged Dominion-provincial conference, may furnish an opportunity for Mr. Hepburn to give further details of his proposals for government economies by departmental mergers.

For a number of years conferences have been held periodically to eliminate duplications between the Dominion and provincial Departments of Agriculture. One was held in Toronto at the time of the Royal Winter Fair two years ago and another in Ottawa last December.

There may still be some duplication of services, departmental officials here stated, but the real issue is whether the province or the Dominion should perform certain services to the farmers and which could perform them more economically.

all attempts by the fascists to cross the Manzanares River. One insurgent plane crashed in a Madrid suburb. At 8 a.m. five fascist bombers soared over the capital as shrieking sirens sent all those in the streets scurrying for cover. The planes swooped low, apparently seeking to spot strategic points before dropping their bombs. Before they could complete their operation, six government scouting planes—three minutes after the sirens had sounded—swept into action and the invaders fled. One of the fascist craft was hit and plunged earthward.

CASUALTIES REPORTED

At 1 p.m. insurgent planes again flew over the city dropping powerful bombs in the eastern Venecia sector. A number of casualties and some damage were reported.

Three hand grenades were thrown into the streets of Madrid yesterday, killing two children. The man who allegedly threw the grenades was arrested. Stringent precautionary measures have been imposed to guard against any further act by fascist sympathizers within the capital's gates.

BOTTLED UP

Socialist forces have bottled up insurgent legionnaires and Moroccan troops who advanced into the Casa de Campo sector; it was officially announced today.

The Casa de Campo, a former royal park, is on the west bank of the Manzanares River, about one and a half miles from the Puerta del Sol, Madrid's main square. Furious fighting has been underway in that sector.

CLAIM ADVANCE

The insurgent radio station at Seville said the insurgents were routing government forces in the park, and advancing toward the centre of the city.

The communiqué issued by Madrid's emergency military government declared the fascists had failed to cross the Manzanares River at any point.

It denied any insurgent forces had filtered into the sector around the royal palace, into the university city region, in the northwest, or had attained any of the railway stations.

(The Havas correspondent with the insurgent forces reported they had crossed the river and stormed close to the Puerta de Toledo at the junction of the Calle de Toledo, Ronda de Segovia and Paseo de los Ocho Holes.)

A heavy artillery duel between the two armies was resumed at dawn, the leftist command announced.

REINFORCEMENTS
An indication fresh troops were at the disposal of the leftist authorities was seen by observers in orders by Gen. Jose Miaja, head of Madrid's emergency military government, that militiamen hold their lines at any cost until reinforcements arrived.

PLANE DESTROYED

A loyalist air squadron of eight planes roared into action last yesterday and rained bombs on enemy encampments near Carabanchel Alto; outside Madrid, west of the Manzanares River. One tri-motored fascist plane and its occupants were destroyed in a dog-fight.

The Tenerife radio station reported that rebel troops were battling their way toward the heart of Madrid after entering it at three separate points.

RAID BY FIVE PLANES

The horror in Madrid was intensified by another insurgent air attack yesterday by five battle planes. Flying lower than in any previous attack, the aircraft raked the city's principal streets with machine gun fire, centering their attack on the important Calle San Bernardo.

LEADERS LOSE HOPE

Associated Press
Madrid, Nov. 10.—Huddled in cellars, socialist officials despaired of the capital's fate today in the face of an insurgent advance to within 500 yards of the city proper.

Artillery behind the fascist lines along the Manzanares River showed Madrid in jeopardy. Three bombardments, Squadrons of low-flying insurgent planes blasted at government ministries and fortifications.

The military drive brought the attackers near the Angel Gate and the Toledo bridge as socialist militiamen were forced to retreat into the capital's streets.

(At Seville, Gen. Gonzalo Quilete de Llano, one of the insurgent high command, declared "the fascist troops will enter Madrid when the command is given. Our troops occupy the Manzanares bridges," the officer asserted in a broadcast received in Paris. "The river front is ours. The resistance is inconceivable—even less than anticipated.")

Madrid, Nov. 10.—Three great fascist bombing planes dumped two score large bombs, many of them incendiary, on the southern and western sections of Madrid at 3.55 p.m. today.

It was the heaviest aerial bombardment yet of the besieged Spanish capital. Fifteen pursuit planes swarmed around the bombers as they circled the city several times before dropping the first of their bombs over the Toledo bridge sector, intended point of insurgent penetration into the city.

Australia's Air Control Vetoed

Confusion Follows High Court's Ruling Commonwealth Lacks Powers Over States; at Present States Have No Laws

Canadian Press via Reuters
Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 10.—Prime Minister J. A. Lyons intends to go to the people of Australia for powers to control aviation. It was learned authoritatively today following a High Court decision invalidating existing air navigation regulations.

The High Court, in a majority decision, held the Commonwealth Parliament had not power to exercise general control of aviation and that Commonwealth air regulations were invalid when applied to flying within a state.

A referendum on control of aviation will be taken at the same time as a referendum, previously announced, seeking to establish the Commonwealth's right to control maritime shipping.

The High Court allowed the appeal of a Sydney pilot who was fined for flying while his license was suspended.

CONFUSION SEEN

The federal view is that the decision causes a serious problem, as the states do not possess air laws. Pilots would be able to fly within state limits without licenses. It would be impossible to punish breaches of safety regulations as long as fliers did not cross state boundaries.

Civil Aviation Controller Johnston said: "The judgment will cause chaos. It will allow unlicensed pilots, flying overloaded machines which are not airworthy, to fly to any part of the Commonwealth."

Informed sources predicted the Commonwealth government probably will ask the states to pass legislation, delegating control of aviation to the federal parliament.

French Communists To Give Madrid Aid
Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Nov. 10.—The French Communist Party today launched a new campaign to help the democratic republic of Spain.

With the slogan, "We've been duped long enough," the French Communists called for moral solidarity and material aid for Spain.

Their proclamation covered the front page of L'Humanite, the Communist newspaper, and was reproduced on posters put up throughout the city.

At the same time the rightist-conservative newspaper Le Figaro announced that an inquiry by Philippe Ruland, one of the members of the senatorial investigating commission, asserted that revealed that thirty-six airplanes had been sent to Spain from France in nine different shipments.

The newspaper alleged these airplanes had been constructed by French concerns for the French air force and that the French ministry authorized their purchase by Madrid.

Alaska Ships Lie Idle In Vancouver

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 10.—Supplies of eggs, butter and fresh vegetables in southeastern Alaska were almost exhausted today, as Governor John W. Troy and the Ketchikan Chamber of Commerce pleaded for a suspension of tariffs on Canadian products during the maritime strike.

Alaska delegate Anthony J. Dimond, at Washington, D.C., said in a dispatch here he had referred the proposal to the Attorney-General, the Secretary of the Treasury and the budget director, before submitting it to President Roosevelt.

The president's authority to suspend tariffs, Ketchikan Chamber officials explained the Jones Act prohibited importation of American products in Canadian vessels. At present, they must be shipped by rail to Prince Rupert and then aboard United States vessels to Alaska.

They said the Jones Act must be waived if United States produce were to reach the territory, but even then, freight charges would be high.

Postal facilities were taxed to the limit here yesterday when the Canadian steamer Princess Norah arrived with 2,000 sacks of mail. She passed today to return south with a capacity passenger list—remnants of gold rush days. Every berth has been booked. Those who could not obtain passage made arrangements to go south by plane, while others will be forced to wait here until the Princess Norah returns in ten days.

San Francisco, Nov. 10 (Associated Press).—A new conflict between maritime workers and shipowners arose in Honolulu today to harass government efforts to end the spreading Pacific Coast maritime strike.

A mass meeting of 1,000 maritime workers in Honolulu agreed early today to return seven strike-bound ships to the Pacific coast of the United States from Hawaii if union longshoremen were used exclusively and if Hawaiian waterfront workers are included in future negotiations.

Agents for the Matson Line, which owns five of the ships, immediately replied:

"That is out of the question. A majority of the dock workers here are not union men and don't want to join. This is an attempt to force unionism down their throats."

The Hawaiian ports of Honolulu and Hilo have been the only major Pacific non-union longshore ports since the coastwise 1934 strike.

Revue Storm At Philadelphia

Mayor Protests 'Ridicule of U.S. President's Wife'; Author Turns to Courts

Associated Press
Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—Producers of the musical revue "New Faces" withdrew from the show today the sketch which Mayor S. Davis Wilson termed "a damnable outrage" for "ridiculing the wife of the President of the United States."

The mayor ordered it to be eliminated or the show discontinued. The manager of the theatre agreed, but Leonard Stillman, the author, said: "I'll employ all the legal talent I need to keep that skit in."

Philadelphia audiences waited for the second local performance of the Broadway production tonight for the outcome of the incident that saw the mayor jump from his third row seat in the middle of the first act yesterday evening and stalk up the aisle to deliver his ultimatum to the management.

"Take that skit out of the show or I'll close it," he ordered. "It's the most damnable outrage I ever witnessed to poke fun at the President's wife."

The sequence that aroused the mayor's ire was entitled "Scouting a Rumor" and depicted Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Herbert Hoover (in the play Gerry Probst and Patricia Mayhew) addressing a meeting of Girl Scouts.

The characteristics of the President's and former President's wives were exaggerated.

JAPAN WARNED OF DICTATORS

Tokyo, Nov. 10.—Baron Reijro Wakatsuki, former Japanese premier, appealed to the nation today to resist any attempt to form a dictatorial government.

His declaration was interpreted as the strongest expression by a Japanese politician against military attempts to reorganize the government structure.

Speaking at a memorial meeting for former Premier Yuko Hamaguchi, he denounced European dictatorships, mentioning Russia, Germany and Italy.

"Under such conditions there cannot be any real development of national power or real happiness among the people," he said.

"If there be any section of people in this country considering adopting such a political form, we will have to definitely reject such an idea in favor of Japan's constitutional politics and for the welfare and happiness of the state and people."

ARMY MAKES CONCESSIONS
Political opposition to the military demands has already resulted in modification of the suggestions. Army and navy officials last night made public a detailed programme for government reorganization which is much milder than previous proposals.

KEY QUESTION
The deadlock there threatened to prolong indefinitely the coast-tie-up since the return of ships from Hawaii has been one of the key questions in resuming negotiations here.

Union action was taken after the joint policy committee in San Francisco, representing 37,000 strikers in seven unions, had repeated cable instructions to return the ships.

Further uncertainty was added to the situation by court actions in three continental ports.

terings and the sacrifices of the Great War. It recalls what we, the living, owe to the many loved ones who lie silent in their graves, to the bereaved, and to those among us who bravely struggle on, maimed, limb and broken or shattered in health. To all of these the wearing of a poppy on Remembrance Day is a tribute, for the poppy has its endearing association with Flanders Fields.

AID TO NEEDY
"The purchase of poppies and wreaths for Remembrance Day also affords an opportunity of assisting many of those at present in need. It is an opportunity which will be gladly and widely availed of by the people of our Dominion. . . .

"The monument and the poppy, at best, are but symbols. The Memorial worthy of valor and sacrifice is not to be found in stone, or in the flower we wear. It lies in our unremitting endeavors to retain the freedom, and to secure the peace for which those who gave their all endured the hardships and the horrors of war."

Throughout British Columbia tomorrow all business houses will be closed. In Vancouver wreaths will be placed high around the Cenotaph in Victory Square, where the annual Remembrance Day service is observed. Throughout the province to smaller municipalities, to villages and to trading posts in the far north, the silence of reverent remembrance will extend.

In Ottawa a solemn ceremony will be held before the Parliament Buildings. Observances will be held before the Legislative Buildings in the provincial capitals.

Anscomb Demands More City Relief

At the same time its social service costs had been rapidly mounting from $155,000 in 1930 to $361,000 last year. His figures included all amounts the city pays for relief, various charitable institutions and the like.

"Summarized, it means that as between 1930 and 1935 the taxpayers of Victoria have had an additional levy placed on them of $206,000 and this government now proposes to graciously reduce their costs by $35,000 next year, or roughly 10 per cent," he said.

Victoria was deserving of consideration when it served free some $3,500,000 of provincial property which, if taxed like other property, would pay $114,000 per year, he said.

When provincial expenditures were mounting at the rate of millions of dollars a year, "I would, if I were the City of Victoria, leave on your doorstep every social service charge in the list, taking a chance that you would decline to pay the motor il-comes and school grants, because if you did the city would be $250,000 a year better off," he declared.

Mr. Anscomb complimented Mr. Hart on his budget speech to the extent "he has consistently refused to be stampeded into either the fool ideas of the McGees, the contaminating absurdities of the Communists, or the mythical ideas of the Social Creditors, as far as money is concerned."

QUESTIONS BALANCE SHEET
He questioned the provincial balance sheet saying that if the P.G.E. Railway, valued now at $75,000,000 were put down at its true value, and similar items given their real worth, the province would show a deficit of liabilities over assets of some $100,000,000 instead of a $16,000,000 surplus.

Debt figures for the last year showed a comforting picture it was true, but the real fact was that since the government took office in 1933 the gross debt had risen $15,500,000.

At the same time, he declared, the shortage in the sinking funds was growing each year, having reached $8,391,405 at last March 31. All sinking funds, he said, should be put under independent trustees.

Mr. Hart's claim of reduced interest was ironical, he said, because it had been achieved by borrowing millions of dollars more at lower rates than the debt was previously held.

CAPITALIZE COSTS
"You mean, capitalize the costs of the scheme," said Byron Johnson, Liberal, Victoria.

Mr. Wismer questioned whether there was not an action pending on the payment.

"No, not on this one. That was on the first resolution of the council, which was not acted upon," explained Mr. Fringle.

"The question before the courts is a personal one relating to the Mayor and myself. The injunction was on a resolution we did not act on," said Alderman Brown.

Mr. Wismer suggested that the specific sum of $30,000 be removed, and an alternative put in "such amount as the council is legally entitled to pay."

WOULD BE WORTH $230,000
"Why do that?" asked Mr. Fringle. "If this deal goes over successfully it is worth more like $230,000 to the city than $30,000. Why should the legislature hesitate at $30,000?"

"You really think there is some doubt as to the city's right to pay?" asked Mr. Wismer.

"There is some question, but I think we are making a fair request," said Mr. Fringle.

SUBJECT TO COUNCIL
Alderman Brown said the payment might be made subject to a two-thirds vote of the council.

"If this scheme went through the usual brokerage channels it would cost, to be conservative, hundreds of thousands of dollars," said Mr. Fringle.

"I asked one dealer and he said that to realize $125,000 the city would need to float $17,000,000 in the ordinary way," said Alderman Brown.

Mr. Fringle pointed out that if the refunding did not go through Mr. Henley would get nothing as far as the legislation was concerned.

NOT UNANIMOUS
There were no delegations present in objection to the scheme, but Alderman Andrew McDevine rose to explain the council had split six to five on the first resolution and five to four on the second, so that it was not unanimous.

"I would explain that Alderman Wills and O'Neil would have voted with us in the first place if the expense money was to go to the mayor instead of Mr. Henley," said Alderman Luney. "This was later done and made a difference of two votes."

Herbert Anscomb, Independent, Victoria, watching the proceedings for "a lady with a $50 bond," said the idea of giving the government's blank power to decide whether the refunding should go through or not was "bad legislation."

ASK FOR AGREEMENT
Mr. Wismer then asked Mr. Fringle for a copy of the Henley agreement so it could be determined whether it was essential to specify it in the bill. This will be produced at a later hearing.

Mr. Fringle explained that the new bill does not compel consent of 81 per cent of the bondholders before the conversion goes through, but leaves it up to the government to decide.

In respect of the plan to give the government control over future borrowings, Mr. Johnson commented that there was a distinct trend to centralization of public borrowing all the way down the line.

INCOME TAX
He agreed with the Finance Minister that the Dominion Government should not invade the income tax field, but added that the provincial government had been doing a similar thing in the municipal finance field.

Noting mounting provincial expenditures, he said costs should be kept as low as possible until the province could meet its obligations in full.

The relief of municipalities by $601,000 in social service costs was comparatively small, but "a crust is better than nothing," he said.

As far as the $30,000-payment to Henley went, Alderman Luney could not see why it should be necessary to get legislation on it, but apparently there was some reason.

"As I see it, if you hire a man to do a job you've got to pay him. We hire an engineer and a comptroller and we pay them. Why shouldn't we pay a fiscal agent without coming here for authority I don't know," he declared.

Mr. Fringle said that because the payment to Henley was contingent upon the success of the refunding scheme the legislation was necessary. "Isn't the Henley payment a question now before the courts?" asked Arnold Hanna, Liberal, Comox.

"No, not this one," said Mr. Fringle. "I can't understand why we need legislation to pay it," said Acting Mayor Adam.

"Neither can I, as it could be paid automatically if your scheme were validated," said Gordon Wismer, committee chairman.

ALDERMAN BROWN EXPLAINS
Alderman P. R. Brown, stating he was not acting in his role of alderman because he was under injunction, then undertook to explain the situation.

"Mr. Henley came to us with a bargain, saying in effect 'Here's a scheme. If I'm successful my cost is $30,000, if not $15,000 for expenses.'"

"My idea was to put it into the bill so we would not have to levy directly on the taxpayers for the cost of putting the refunding across. In this way we would incorporate the $30,000 right into the refunding bill and save taxing for it currently."

CAPITALIZE COSTS
"You mean, capitalize the costs of the scheme," said Byron Johnson, Liberal, Victoria.

Mr. Wismer questioned whether there was not an action pending on the payment.

PREMIER PLEADS WORLD OPINION

Mr. King in Ottawa Speech
Says Universal Goodwill Is Greatest Need of League of Nations; Sir Robert Borden Chairman

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 10.—Development of a world public opinion among men and women of good will to offset the powers for evil that threaten peace and security, as the logical course for the League of Nations and for individuals as well as nations, is the remedy offered by two Canadian statesmen.

Prime Minister King and Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, war-time Prime Minister, united in expression of this belief at a banquet tendered yesterday evening by the League of Nations Society in Canada in honor of the Canadian delegation to the recent League Assembly in Geneva.

Mr. King, who headed the Canadian delegation and returned to Canada only last Friday, gave an intimate picture of what happened during the Assembly sessions and told of the conflicting points of view that face the covenant revision committee which will meet next month.

CLASH OF IDEAS
Speaking of the civil war in Spain, Mr. King declared the clash of ideas within nations presented a greater menace than the fear of conflict between nations, offering the possibility as they do of breaking beyond their limits and spreading across many countries.

The struggle to come was between those of good will who believe in a law of "peace, health and work," and those whose law is "blood and death," Mr. King declared. He believed the purposes of the League, if bound up in a pursuit of "peace by peaceful means," might command the support of all nations and exert a powerful influence for good.

"What the world needs," the Prime Minister declared, "is the healing hand of a political physician, not an armed fist."

Of the conflicting forces in Spain, the Prime Minister said it was difficult to distinguish between the forces of Communism and Fascism. Much that was a sincere effort to improve conditions of the working classes was confused with Communism, while sincere efforts to maintain law and order were confused with Fascism.

There was no uncertainty in Europe as to the power of the German dictator, but much uncertainty as to how that power might be used. German and Russian opinions clashed. In France was the fear the horrors of Spain might spread across its borders. There was the recent German occupation of the Rhineland and Germany's rejection of the Locarno Pact.

LIMITS FOR DEBATE
In view of these circumstances it was not wise to throw the general European situation into debate before the League. The inevitable result would have been to aggravate an already tense situation or to adopt a course of such neutrality as to be useless.

First step to meet the situation should be a round-table conference of the powers immediately and vitally affected, the Prime Minister said. That was not now possible because those countries were not all in the League. He did not know how soon such a conference could be called.

UNIVERSAL LEAGUE
Australia's attitude as expressed to the League was fairly representative of the attitude of Great Britain and Canada. That was the belief a non-universal League membership would be helpless to carry out the covenant as it is now worded. There was strong feeling in many quarters that aggressive clauses in the covenant should be removed so members now outside the League might be drawn in.

Other sections of national opinion would retain sanctions, while still another school of thought would have regional pacts for the maintenance of peace. Great Britain had advocated a "new Locarno."

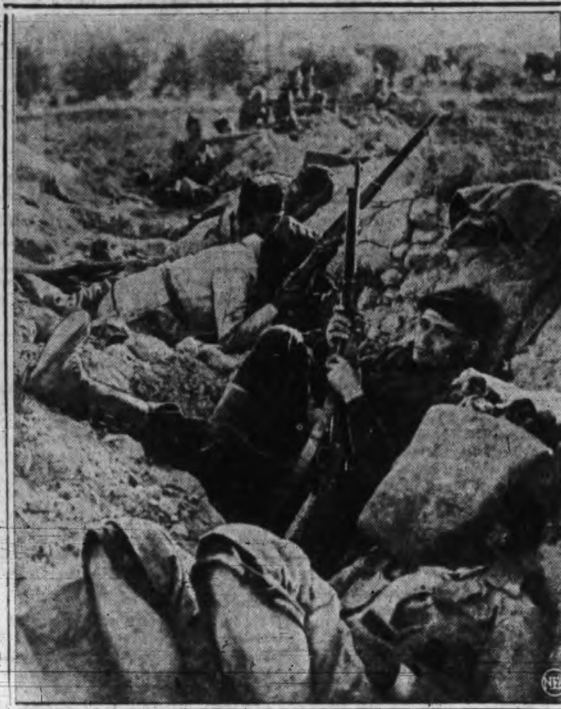

All these matters were properly the subject for parliamentary debate, the Prime Minister said, and he would express no set opinions, at a League of Nations Society function. He declared, however, there was a real future for the League in organizing world opinion for peace and he believed there were signs on the horizon that offered a hope the powers for good would triumph in the struggle with those bent on war and destruction.

U.S. AND LEAGUE
Sir Robert Borden, first president of the League of Nations Society, introducing Premier King, declared: "With an emotion of deep regret, that if the most powerful nation on earth, from which in large measure came the inspiration out of which the covenant arose, had not seen fit to dissociate itself from the covenant, the world today would not have arisen."

The veteran statesman forecast the building up of a world public opinion against war, expressed in the collective and compelling voice of the nations united perhaps in a more intimate relationship than at present.

"We shall have done less than our duty," Sir Robert added, "if the voice of Canada fails to give unfaltering support to the resolve for which humanity's endeavor was consecrated in the covenant."

War-weary Fighters

Baldwin Urges "Prepared Peace"

British Premier, Speaking at Lord Mayor's Banquet in London, Warns Revolution
Would Be Inevitable Result of War

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 10.—A dramatic plea for "peace preparedness" was put forward by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin in an address before diplomats and politicians assembled at the banquet given last night in honor of the new Lord Mayor of London, Sir George Broadbridge.

The Prime Minister declared Britain's efforts to safeguard peace had kept the plague of war from the people of Europe.

"And today, while we still are finding and burying the bodies of men who fell in the war, all Europe is arming," he said. "What good can come of it?"

REVOLUTION THREAT
Mr. Baldwin, principal speaker at the banquet, warned the inevitable result of war would be "world revolution" and pledged his government to try "to save Europe" through leadership for disarmament and lower trade barriers.

VOICES OF DOMINIONS
Premier Baldwin referred to visits to Britain by ministers from the Dominions, among them Prime Minister King.

"I would love to assure the members of the governments of the Dominions on behalf of His Majesty's Government that we appreciate and welcome the opportunities which they give us to discuss here across the table many problems of vital interest to us all," he said.

"The meeting of the imperial council, which is to be held next year at the time of His Majesty's coronation, will afford a further proof of the value of free discussion for the solution of our common problems."

DISARMAMENT DISCUSSION
Speaking of disarmament, Mr. Baldwin said: "The government is ready and anxious to embrace any and every opportunity to stem this growth of armament, and to effect a reduction of armament and enter into agreements which will make for peace and remove from Europe that fear which broods over it today."

He declared his government was "looking forward to a further period of friendly co-operation with the government of President Roosevelt in all matters of common concern."

"It is particularly gratifying to His Majesty's Government, he said, "that the main objective of their economic policies is the same—namely, liberation of the world from the shackles which unduly impede the free development of international trade, and particularly those exceptional restrictions on importation and exchange which were instituted during the period of the economic depression."

Referring to the presence of Polish Foreign Minister Josef Beck at the banquet, Mr. Baldwin said Britain "looks forward to developing a close collaboration between our two countries, both of which have the cause of world peace earnestly at heart."

BRITAIN AND ITALY
"Relations between this country and Italy in the Mediterranean are not divergent but complementary," Mr. Baldwin said. "This is the truth, and it is all to the good that it should be realized as being the truth, both here and in Italy."

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 10.—A two-day visit to the Home Fleet is planned by the King for this week.

Following his attendance at the Armistice Day remembrance gathering at the Albert Hall Wednesday evening, His Majesty will leave by train for Portland.

The event is essentially merely a personal call by the King on the officers and men of the fleet, it was emphasized. Instead of the pomp of a naval review the visit will be completely informal. His Majesty joining the audience at a lower deck concert of the aircraft carrier Courageous.

GUARD OF HONOR
Something like 10,000 officers and men will be on the ships in Portland harbor. The customary naval guard of honor alongside the train when the King arrives will be replaced by a guard of Portland service men, and the King will receive the chairman of the district council. These will be the only civic formalities.

The King will visit first certain shore establishments, notably the anti-submarine school where he will be shown some of the most secret devices for countering the underwater menace. The fleet air arm will give a display.

Accompanying the King will be First Lord of the Admiralty Sir Samuel Hoare, and Admiral of the Fleet Sir Ernie Chatfield, First Sea Lord.

BRITISH HOUSE BARS AMENDMENT

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Nov. 10.—The Labor amendment to the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was rejected by a vote of 369 to 125 in the House of Commons last night.

The amendment deplored the speech "failed to recognize that the improvement in unemployment conditions, brought about by rearmament, could be only temporary."

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 10.—Commerce Department officials said today they were drafting recommendations for appropriation of $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 for an accurate count of jobless in the United States.

They added that ground work had been laid for the census. Some economists contend detailed, authentic knowledge of the size of the unemployment problem is vital to the success of any attack on it. Estimates of unemployment have varied widely.

Japan proper had a population of about 70,150,000, the report said. The census showed there were approximately 190,000 more men than women.

The population of Tokyo alone exceeds 6,000,000.

Demands More Street Repair

Alderman McGavin Insists on Further Expenditure on Pandora Avenue

The total expenditure of $2,200, the amount earmarked from the $100,000 provincial loan for the improvement of Pandora Avenue, was insisted upon by Alderman Andrew McGavin at the City Council meeting yesterday.

Alderman McGavin had called for a report on the amount that had been expended on the street. Yesterday afternoon the public works executive informed him $897 of that appropriation had been spent to date.

Pandora Avenue was the logical highway from the city to Oak Bay and would cost less to be put into repair than the Dardanelles, Alderman McGavin said. It was supposed to be scarified and further improved, but he had only noticed a scratching of the surface and the filling up of a few holes.

NOT ECONOMICAL
G. M. Irwin, city engineer, told the council he did not think the expenditure of $2,200 on Pandora Avenue would be an economical expenditure.

"I say that street can be put into better shape than it is," Alderman McGavin said.

Alderman Walter Lunney, chairman of the public works executive, reported the hard surface of Pandora Avenue was only four inches thick in parts. If it were broken and clay allowed to get to the surface an entirely new surface would be required. It was incapable of efficient scarifying, he said.

The city engineer further reported improvement of Pandora Avenue had not been completed for the year.

Egypt is reported to be very much interested in air conditioning, though only a few buildings have so far been equipped.

SUGGESTS NEW TAX PAYMENT

Monthly Instalment System Advocated For City By Alderman Archie Wills

Investigation of a policy of issuing monthly bills to ratepayers of Victoria in order to encourage regular payments on their current levies was ordered by the City Council on the suggestion of Alderman Archie Wills yesterday.

The matter was referred to the solicitor, the assessor-collector and the controller for a report. The object of the move was to avoid the presentation of tax bills in a lump amount to citizens near the end of the year, Alderman Wills explained. He realized, he said, that under the prepaid system property owners could make monthly or periodic payments on their levies, but suggested that a monthly reminder, sent out with the water bill, might encourage the taxpayer to meet his obligations on a basis which would be less painful than that of lump sum collection at the beginning of October or later in the year.

Man Hanging Head Down Is Rescued

Associated Press
Reykjavik, Iceland, Nov. 10.—Hanging head down in an ice cavern for two days, an Iceland shepherd sang what he thought was his own funeral dirge—but it saved his life.

The herder was one of two men searching for sheep on precipitous Breidamarkur mountain. When a snow avalanche swept down on him, he lost his precarious footing and plunged into a glacial crevasse.

Searchers today heard his muffled chant from a cavern roofed over by snow. They dug into it and found him suspended from the ceiling, his feet caked in the snow.

Noah Beery Sr. Seriously Injured

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 10.—Noah Beery Sr., eighty-six-year-old father of Wallace Beery, lay in the Queen of Angels Hospital with a fractured hip today, cheered by a prospective visit from his actor son.

Beery cut short a business trip in the east to fly back here by plane, arriving this morning.

CAMERA! ACTION!

SOME think me vain, "a show-off" concerning my athletic development. But I am only justly proud of my physical perfection. "Authorities" claim we degenerate from 45 onwards, in spite of our efforts, yet I started to regenerate from "scratch" at 50 and am still improving at almost 79.

Cold has no terrors for the healthy.

Proud? Certainly! Yet I display my figure only to prove that all humans may be as symmetrical, elastic, flexible, supple and beautiful of body at 80 as at 20, through obedience to Nature's health laws.

My physical perfection that enables me to do stunts on lecture platforms and in the "talkie" "One Young Man," at which people marvel, has resulted solely from following the teaching in my books "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL," "MAKE YOUR MIND BUILD HEALTH" and "MASTER GUIDE TO PHYSICAL PERFECTION," from which anyone can obtain equal results. "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL," is great enough that certain "interests" in the States are trying to prevent its sale, a certain sign of its importance; and Ellis Barker of England, Editor of "Health," the oldest health magazine published, says of it: "This is a wonderful, an amazing book, a book unique in all literature." "His book is perhaps the most extraordinary health book ever written." And his book will remain a classic for ages". Its teaching is based upon the fact that our bodies can be only as perfect as the foods that build them.

There probably is no more perfect body than mine, although approaching 80, built from a wreck at 50 from Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and the alkali-forming beverage Kofy-Sub, milk, fruits, vegetables and nuts. Choose at least 75% of your foods from these, take reasonable systematic exercise, and you will soon agree they are the best body-building foods in the world to-day. And is that not probable

Who Works For Peace?

TOMORROW IS REMEMBRANCE DAY—the day eighteen years ago when the peoples and governments of the world realized that it was time to call a halt to the slaughter of the flower of the world's manhood. We were told soon after the universe had gone in for this ghastly and futile carnage, this horrible wreckage of lives and the stupid dissipation of material treasure, that a new era was about to dawn, that this really was the "war to end war."

Forsooth! "War to End War!" If it was a war to end war it certainly was not a war to prevent war. The world has gone armaments crazy. Nations are spending many millions of more dollars a month today on warlike preparations than they were spending in the early summer months of 1914. What are the people of Victoria, for example, going to say to themselves about it all as they attend the various ceremonies symbolical of "Remembrance Day?"

Eighteen years after the order to cease fire went forth, it is about time that sensible people took stock of present-day international mentality. It is about time that all sensible people quietly asked themselves what they have done in these eighteen years, what they are doing now, to prevent another cataclysmic convulsion. In the mass, but only synthetically articulately, they have demanded peace.

On this, the eve of Remembrance Day, the Dominion of Canada has reason to be proud of the fact that she is doing her best to live an orderly life—and is living in peace with her neighbor on the south of the forty-ninth parallel. This international relationship has stood the test of time and all its vicissitudes for more than a hundred years. Why, therefore, can not those postage-stamp states of continental Europe quit looking over their black-and-white and yellow-and-red frontier posts and shake hands and say: "Let us be Friends!" What a Remembrance Day that would be tomorrow if that could be broadcast all round the world! But what chance is there? The answer is: "No chance at all!"

But let us try to think that there is some chance in the world and consider an article in the November issue of The Rotarian, the monthly journal which, through its contributors, its broad outlook, is trying to smash down the barriers between nations which "pin-head" and still smaller politicians are for their own personal gain trying to bolster up as a challenge to what should now be accepted as a truism—that war no longer should be considered inevitable.

The Rotarian's article tells us that an up-to-date battleship costs approximately $40,000,000, that the cost of building one of these fighting monsters of the seas would provide enough money to build 8,000 homes, four universities, and five hospitals.

Would it not be pertinent to suggest to all those who observe "Remembrance Day" tomorrow to say to themselves that the finest and most practical epitaph that could be erected to those who laid down their lives would be one consecrated to the determination that their lives have not been laid down in vain?

Praiseworthy Social Work

A WORK THAT SHOULD BE COM- mended is that being undertaken by Dr. David Berman, Sanitch health officer, and the Royal Oak Women's Institute, to raise a fund to finance necessary dental and ophthalmic work on indigents and their children in the municipality.

Listed by the health department are cases of invalidism in adults and children due to abscessed teeth and caries, of adults who are a burden to themselves, their families and the community because of eye troubles, and of children retarded in school through faulty vision. All these cases can be corrected by dental treatment or by the fitting of eyeglasses. The trouble is that the persons affected have not the money to get the work done.

The fund which Dr. Berman and the Women's Institute are raising will make up this deficiency. It is a social work of much future value that is being undertaken. It is particularly sad to see boys and girls at school having their whole future blighted and perhaps developing into social liabilities because their families cannot afford to have the children's eyesight corrected or their teeth attended to.

The Tragedy of Spain

WHAT WILL BE THE OUTCOME of the conflict in Spain is difficult to forecast. Today's news would seem to indicate that the insurgents will capture Madrid and hold the city as their chief prize. What, after all, will they have captured when their legions march into the capital? Madrid is Spain and Spaniards are fighting for their own country—between themselves.

These are the stark facts. Civil war, of course, is the most diabolical kind of war. It is the most vicious of family rows. It is not to be considered for a moment that the Spanish people, as a people, hate one another. The government, supposedly of the Left, has been challenged by a junta, the minority element in the elections of a few months ago.

it is her own business. All of which boils down to the tragic fact that no matter what the outcome of native Spaniard killing native Spaniard may be, there is trouble aplenty ahead of their unhappy nation. To what extent heads of Leftists and Rightists are cooled in the next few weeks will depend the destiny of the land over which once a Bourbon ruled—unwisely.

A Fine Tribute

LAST YEAR HON. JOHN HART, British Columbia's Minister of Finance, had upwards of 4,000 requests for a copy of his Budget Speech. These requests came from all parts of Canada, the United States, and Great Britain. This manifestation of interest in the province's financial business was significant enough a year ago.

This year, however, similar requests have exceeded 16,000. The increase is not to be wondered at. The manner in which Mr. Hart has handled his job has inspired confidence in the financial realm. His budget of last week was a model presentation. He confined himself to hard-and-fast facts. These are what the cold-blooded financiers want. Verbal froth and superlatives mean nothing to them.

Crepe on "Brown Derby"

WEARING HIS "BROWN DERBY," smoking a cigar, former Governor of New York, former Democrat candidate for the presidency of the United States, Alfred E. Smith, together with his wife, took less than two minutes to cast the Smith vote—for Republican candidate Landon. As The New York Times relates, this was the first time that the Smiths had voted anti-Democrat.

Last Tuesday was the day when the former "Happy Warrior" felt the "lid"—not the "Brown Derby"—clamped firmly down upon him. As he and his wife left the polling booth they were greeted with boos and cheers. The story of their exit suggests that the boos "had it."

We are not permitted to know whether Mr. Smith will explain his conversion to Republicanism; but we have been told that The Literary Digest intends to explain what "went wrong" with its "straw ballot." That, at least, ought to be interesting.

Unlucky Winners

SOME SWEEPSTAKE WINNERS are lucky, not because they have won, but because they know how to guard their winnings. Other winners are more to be pitied than feted.

This is supported by a Mr. William Coyle, in the east. He should know, for in 1931 he won $20,000 in the Irish Hospitals sweepstakes on the Derby. He immediately quit his job as elevator operator. Six months ago he returned, disconsolately, to the elevator controls.

In the interim, he reveals, his windfall was melted by repeatedly unsuccessful attempts to start his own business in the garage, cafe, and real estate lines. "I pity anyone who is as lucky as I was," says Mr. Coyle.

All of which is more evidence that the life of a sweeps winner is not along an unending rose-strewn pathway. If he is not bothered to death by promoters or other "sure thing" salesmen, he is pestered by the "touching" requests of suddenly solicitous relatives; or, like Mr. Coyle, he is apt to see his new fortune dwindle away in bad investments.

Peace in Europe

SO MUCH OF THE NEWS FROM Europe seethes with sabre-rattling and racial enmity that the story of the "First Day of the North" comes as a decidedly welcome relief.

Through radio addresses and demonstrations, on this day set aside for the purpose, the five Scandinavian states—Denmark, Iceland, Sweden, Norway, and Finland—assured one another of their mutual respect and sympathy; and showed the world that goodwill and co-operation among nations can exist in at least one part of Europe.

Europe was in the throes of the World War when the Scandinavian kings met to discuss their problems and plan this programme of mutual aid. Perhaps this enduring example of pleasant relations among neighboring peoples may play some part in averting another such catastrophe.

Notes

Victor McLaglen, movie actor, says he has been soldiering all his life. Many people do it only on the job.

The men who died in the Great War died in the hope that the sacrifice they were making was significant, that it would somehow help the luckier folk who did not have to die to enter a better, cleaner, more useful world. It is up to us who live on to make that hope good. There can be no better Remembrance Day observance than to dedicate ourselves to that task.

This is Canadian Book Week, its object being to direct public attention to the recent literary production of Canadian authors now being made available through the regular trade channels. In the east it is being observed with literary exhibitions. In Toronto Canada's first Book Fair is being held. At this is being shown to the public the notable collection of rare Canadiana belonging to Mr. A. H. O'Brien, for many years counsel to the House of Commons. These include some of Sir John A. Macdonald's letters and manuscripts of some of Bliss Carman's poems. A feature also of the fair is Prime Minister Mackenzie King's private collection of rare bindings—a result of one of his hobbies. Most of the work on the bindings Mr. King did on his private press. Many of the bindings in the collection are described as "little gems done for his friends and himself."

Across the Bay

It is really a ghost story, this record of the session—because there is a ghost, and blood across James Bay this fall—the real business lies ahead in Ottawa—And we're just going through the motions.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

POOR GHOST

THIS CHRONICLE of the Legislature arrives late at the current session, but it really does not matter, for there is very little to chronicle. It is hardly a session of the Legislature at all, only the weary ghost of a session which will go quietly to an early end, and in history it will be remembered as the dumbest meeting of the Legislature on record.

They tell us now that they are going to finish it next week if they have to sit morning, noon and night. That will hardly be necessary, for there is little business to transact. Everybody knows that it is going to be a mere going through the motions and that the real business will be in Ottawa when the Premier and Mr. Hart go there in December.

This, though it is hard to believe when you take your first look at the current session, is the same House which only last spring was bubbling and boiling with ambition and discontent, which kept us all in a constant state of nerves, which was developing a neat little revolt in the Liberal Party, which was going to tear the dome off the Parliament Buildings at its next meeting.

Now, in cold November, all the heat and passion has gone out of the House. The rebellion has died. The rebels are silent, some sullen, but most on the government's doorstep, asking to be taken in, or taken in already. The Opposition, divided into groups, beyond all reckoning, is no danger to anyone except, perhaps, to itself. The government seeks only to get supply granted to His Majesty and then it is off again to Ottawa.

THE OLD RUMOR

SO FAR AS you can find out, coming here two weeks late, the session has produced little, so far, except a stillborn rumor of an early election. There seems to be nothing in this but a futile effort of politics to create some faint interest before the end. No one really expects an election until next year, probably next autumn. If necessary, Mr. Hart's happy budget, now being debated, will do for a pre-election budget very nicely, so that the government, once this session is over, will be in a position to go to the country whenever it pleases.

It is on such a ghost of a session that one looked down on Monday, when the government whips began to put on the heat. Ordinarily, we should be lasting along now, looking forward to another month of leisurely statecraft. But, as the Premier must be in Ottawa early in December, we have got to get out of here in a hurry, and speaker after speaker must be hurried into the breach day and night.

CONNELL, THE LIBERAL

MR. CONNELL was the first. As Opposition Leader he is permitted the opening fling at the budget, but he did not accept it. As usual, the thing least mentioned in the budget debate will be the budget. Mr. Connell spent no time either on the plans and programme of his new party, the Social Constructives, but seized the occasion to develop the menace of Fascism, which is a favorite theme of his. On the question of British liberties this mild-mannered gentleman can become genuinely aroused, for in these matters he is a real old-fashioned Liberal.

In the historic sense, Mr. Connell openly pronounced himself a Liberal and his former C.C.F. followers, shrunk to a dismal trio, looked as if they thought that this was the real trouble with their former leader—he is only a Liberal when he should be a red-hot Socialist.

Anyway, Mr. Connell's complaint was against Mr. Sloan's police, who, he says, are beginning to show signs of a growing disrespect for personal liberty, a Fascist tendency which Mr. Sloan should stamp out. But, after listening to Mr. Sloan's speech about the George brothers on the very eve of their execution—an extraordinary proceeding without precedent in British parliamentary history—Mr. Connell didn't have much hope that the attorney-general would do much about his police. He intimated pretty plainly that he perceived the inner instincts of Fascism coming out in Mr. Sloan himself. Mr. Sloan's handsome visage permitted itself a smile.

MR. BURNS CHEERS US

IT IS ALWAYS CHEERING to hear Mr. Burns of Roseland-Trail, who, even in the darkest days, could never see anything much wrong with the government, with the country, with the economic system, with Roseland-Trail. He is one of those genial souls who will go through life and politics spared many of the brutal shocks and disillusionments which jar on more delicate temperaments. And as he told the House quite frankly, if the government will give the interior roads, he does not care very much what else it does this session. Dugald McPherson has always been considered one of the ablest of the private members for the interior and, on occasion, can deliver a rattling good speech. He confessed himself out of practice, however, having wisely held his tongue in this Parliament and observed. After complaining that private members were becoming more and more like rubber stamps, forced to consider estimates printed, cut and dried before they left home, Mr. McPherson admitted that he had lost his notes and, before he could find them, growing impatient at last, Mr. Speaker pushed the debate along. The rest of Mr. McPherson's speech was forever lost, which seemed a real pity.

In the evening the budget actually came in for debate. Mr. Anscomb introduced it, as a sort of a novelty and enjoyed playing with it and trying to pull its feathers out. The Irish brogue and the disarming smile of his fellow townsman, Mr. Hart, never penetrates the hard head of Mr. Anscomb, and he just wouldn't accept the Finance Minister's optimistic account of our finances. After all has been said and done, after you have played with the sinking funds and adjusted the balance sheet and sugar-coated the debt, the fact remains, says Mr. Anscomb, that we are fifteen millions worse off than when Mr. Hart took over.

SOME ISLAND SPELLING

From The West Coast Advocate, Port Alberni
After all these years we've learned at last the correct way to spell the Indian name for that invitingly green meadow on the banks of the river between Port Alberni and Alberni. It is "Lup-ak-up-se," and our authority is none other than Mr. Alfred Carmichael in his little book entitled "Indian Legends of Vancouver Island," a copy of which is now on the shelves of the Union Library here. We blush when we recall the various ways we have spelled it in the past.

Incidentally, Mr. Carmichael says the Sonmass River should correctly be spelled "Thomas" with the T silent. There is a Tualsa River and a Twolum River on the east coast of the island, so why not Thomas? Mount Kilta should correctly be Mr. "Klent-as," and there are various other examples of a like nature given in this interesting little book.

Letters to The Editor

"NOTHING DEFINITE"

To the Editor—"Nothing definite" tersely represents the result, up to date, of the visit of our mayor, accompanied by Fiscal Agent Henley and Comptroller Macdonald, to London, England.

It is now nearly two months since this ill-starred delegation left, and outside meagre information gleaned from "sundry" postcards received, "nothing definite" represents all they have accomplished.

These gentlemen were expected to return in ample time to report regarding reduction of bond interest, etc., while the provincial Legislature was in session, and to obtain the necessary legislation to enable the city of Victoria to repudiate the interest on her bonded debt. But we read in Monday's Times that the legislative committee of the City Council had to make the humiliating admission at a meeting of the Private Bills Committee that they were obliged to ask that the matter be taken up in the dim and distant future.

The City Solicitor made the following statement: "No, nothing definite. We have had occasional messages from the mayor. He seems satisfied, etc."

The taxpayers can hardly be expected to be satisfied, especially as this trip was made against the strongly expressed opinion that it was the most ill-advised action ever taken by any City Council and at a cost of $30,000, wholly out of proportion with any results that might accrue. But anyone reading between the lines (on the postcards) can only come to the conclusion that up to date the expensive journey has, to say the most, not been the howling success the promoters of the Henley plan had led the taxpayers to expect.

From the meagre information published we are told Mayor Leeming and Comptroller Macdonald are at present in Toronto, and in a wire the mayor states, "sundry well received; back in two weeks."

It is a curious circumstance that in the scant information gleaned from the sundry postcards received, no mention is made of Fiscal Agent Henley or the Henley plan, nor is he mentioned as being in Toronto. No anxiety need, however, be felt as to his health or where he is at present, for doubtless the prospect of a $30,000 payment will be a strong incentive towards bringing him back to his old home town.

Let us hope that when the mayor does arrive home, he will have come to the conclusion that the only repudiation that will meet the approval of the majority will be the non-payment of the $30,000; but probably this is too much to ask or expect.

WHY?

To the Editor:—It is rather a peculiar thing, but since the war ended, November 11 (Armistice Day) has not been forgotten. On this day we all remember the dead, those who gave their lives for King and Country. It must not be forgotten that the period of remembrance lasts only two minutes, before that eventful hour, 11 a.m. After, no more thought is given to it (except by those who least someone). Nevertheless, remembrance is given to these late comers of ours. But how is it that those who are living and went through the same ordeals are not remembered for the other 364 days of the year? Many of us walk the streets day in and day out looking for jobs. Why are we left idle while Orientals hold the jobs? Are we, the living, not allowed to have comforts and a decent livelihood? Surely we earned it! Take, for example, many business places here. Do they not employ Orientals on jobs an ex-serviceman could do?

Many of us have sons, and can it be expected that they would serve as we did and be treated in the same manner afterwards? By all means remember the boys who gave their lives, but do not forget those who still live and are in need!

CANADA TO HAVE A NAVY

From The Winnipeg Free Press
Mr. Grant Dexter, staff correspondent of The Free Press, formerly of The Free Press bureau in London, cables the important information that it has become known there, following Premier King's arrival from Geneva, that the new defence programme of the Canadian Government includes fleets of destroyers on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts—ships larger and with heavier armament than those now in use—and a considerable increase in the Royal Canadian Air Force. The new defence policy, he says, will be placed before Parliament at the next session at Ottawa. It will become a live subject of discussion in Canada, but the defence which Canada needs most can undoubtedly be provided with destroyers and with a strengthened air force. Such a programme is also more within Canada's financial capacity at this time than would be the securing of larger and costlier ships of war. Some will urge a contribution by Canada to the maintenance of the British Navy, but most Canadians will no doubt feel that if this country provides for its own defence as well as it is able, and lends such other co-operation with efforts of the British Commonwealth, in time of crisis as may be considered necessary, it will be doing sufficient.

"WHEN WAR SHALL CEASE"

No one can fully estimate The horrors of a war. Which daily threatens all the world With its inhuman gore. Ten thousand men, or there about, Are under arms today; While nations, strong and weak, are seen Rearming for the fray.

"The battle is not to the strong. Nor to the swift the race." Yet all rearm with strength and speed And gashy prospects face. All peace talks seem to be in vain. All peace talks but a bluff: All conferences a big expense. While things are getting rough.

"The war to end all war," was fought Full eighteen years ago: Entailing parting, pain, and life, A billion-fold of woe. "The crippled men are seen today, Go hobbling down the street" On sticks and crutches, helplessly! Yes! Some lack legs or feet.

The blind go groping sadly by, Gashed veterans daily cough, United, they are smart. Of war, we've had enough When will humanity decide That war shall be no more? When nations sink their selfishness, And love is to the fore. Nov. 12, 1936. WM. WAUGH.

Don't be
with COLDS

A cold is not something to treat with carelessness or indifference. Thousands of people found this out to their sorrow last year. A cold should be treated quickly and effectively for what it is—an internal infection.

It's only logical to treat an internal infection by internal treatment and that's what you get with GROVE'S BROMO QUININE.

1. It opens the bowels gently but effectively.
2. It combats the cold germs and fever in the system.
3. It relieves the headache and "grippy" feeling.
4. It tones up the system and helps fortify against further attacks.

At the first sign of a cold go to your drugstore and buy a box of GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Start taking the tablets two at a time. If taken promptly GROVE'S BROMO QUININE will check a cold in 24 hours. This is the kind of action you need.

Grove's has been the standby of thousands for over forty years in the treatment of colds.

"Lysol" will help fight those germs of dread infection. Use "Lysol" disinfectant—in all household cleaning—in the scrub pan, on brooms, mops, cloths. It reaches germs in cracks and crevices and ends their vicious careers before they can do harm. "Lysol" has been used to help protect the Dionne Quintuplets against infection—ever since the day they were born.

Send for the story of how "Lysol" is used in the modern scientific care of the little Dionnes. It is offered, without cost, to all mothers—in the hope that it will help them protect their homes, their loved ones, against infection.

HOUSE HEARS P.G.E. DEFENCE

Profits of Government-owned Railway Rising, Says Member

"Who knows but that some day the letters 'P.G.E.' might not stand for 'Province's Great Emancipator,'" declared C. H. Tupper, Liberal, Stikine, in the Legislature last night. Mr. Tupper is a director of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

He proceeded to give an account of operations on the line this year, stating profits likely would exceed those of last year. The Vancouver Jubilee, however, had been blamed for loss of business to the many summer resorts along the line, likewise business to the railroad.

Alberta scrub cattle being shipped into this province also had proven a detriment to the freight haulage of the line, as Cariboo cattlemen had found it impossible to ship cattle to Vancouver at a profit and compete with the Alberta scrubs.

Fills and one large bridge replaced had accounted for $100,000 of expenditure on the road this year, said Mr. Tupper, but 1937 would see the end of capital expenditures in building bridges.

Dealing with conditions in his riding, Mr. Tupper said they were generally good. Frost had caused damage to some fruits, but the chief need was tariff protection against United States and Oriental competition.

Excellent progress was reported in mining and the Copper Mountain Mine opening up would absorb five or six hundred miners. But, if concessions to the company were made to that company by the Legislature, Mr. Tupper thought it should be stipulated that British subjects be given preference in employment.

ISLAND MOVE IS EXPANDING

H. D. Twigg Reports Growing Interest in Autonomy to Saanich Board

A growing enthusiasm in the future welfare of Vancouver Island has led to the organization of committees at many island communities to unite in the movement for an island autonomy, said H. Despard Twigg, secretary of the Vancouver Island Provincial Association, addressing the Saanich Board of Trade in the Women's Institute Hall, Brentwood, yesterday evening.

Mr. Twigg spoke on "Problems of Vancouver Island's Future" and was supported on the platform by Bruce A. McKelvie.

After outlining the association's objectives, Mr. Twigg said the present work was purely educational. The move was non-partisan and devoted solely to the progress of Vancouver Island. If the autonomy could be achieved the island would control its own revenues and there would be far more accomplished for the benefit of the island.

Mr. McKelvie dealt chiefly with injustices which he said the island had suffered as a result of political patronage, inefficiency and waste. It required $19,037 daily to pay interest and sinking fund charges on the $100,000.00 of provincial debt which he attributed to patronage. Vancouver Island had long been subject to indifference—treason—while the mainland received large portions of provincial revenue, he said.

A question period followed the talks. W. O. Wallace, board president, presided.

Helen stopped "DABBING"

... when she discovered the shine-proof face powder with base of precious almond

FACE powder had "done Helen wrong" so often... she just couldn't help being a "dabber". Then a friend told her... told of a lovely powder that had ended "dabbing" for millions. That powder is Princess Pat. What Helen learned, you, too, should know. If you want your complexion to stay as fresh on the dance floor as it looked in your mirror, there's one thing to remember—use a powder with clinging almond base. That means use Princess Pat—Pat to Princess Pat powder belongs the priceless almond secret. Of course Princess Pat powder is good for your skin... almond is a recognized skin emollient. Of course it covers smoothly... never looks "powdery"... for almond makes it the softest of powders. Of course it clings longer... remains gloriously boudoir-fresh. Almond takes care of that, too. Lift your beauty to triumphant new heights with this divine powder! Non-caking, non-clogging, moisture-proof. Lovely "tone blend" shades—enchantingly perfumed. At dealers everywhere. ## English Trip Impressed Speaker

Miss Meta Hodge Tells Business Women's Gathering

"Revisiting England after an absence of some years, I found myself with a renewed sense of admiration for the leisurely way in which things are done and accomplished, in contrast to the more hurried, bustling methods of this continent, and was again impressed with the characteristic respect for law and order."

Miss Meta Hodge thus told the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club in her very interesting causerie last night, in which she gave some impressions of her recent trip to Great Britain and France. She described her twenty-nine-day trip from Victoria via the Panama Canal to Glasgow, and touched upon her impressions of Edinburgh Castle, with its Jubilee flood-lighting and its war memorial—"a poem in stone."

Motoring through England, visiting the Lake district, Shakespeare's country and Oxford, Miss Hodge was impressed with the Youth Movement groups who were at the university town on their way to Sweden. She also spoke of the Aldershot Tattoo and its triumph of organization, the 100,000 spectators and their thousands of cars being cleared away with marvellous order and precision within half-an-hour of the close.

Of the Vimpy pilgrimage, Miss Hodge recalled the impressive memorial and its unveiling, and spoke with pleasure of the renewal of friendship with old comrades of war days.

Mrs. H. V. Bartholomew presided and thanked Miss Hodge for her delightful travelogue. Refreshments were served by Mrs. B. Rose and Miss Shaw.

At the business meeting which preceded the talk, Miss Cresser was welcomed as a new member, and Miss Elsie Richards welcomed back after her long illness.

There will be no social meeting on Thursday of this week. Plans were made for "National Night" to be observed at a dinner at the Y.W.C.A. on November 23 at 7 o'clock, when Mrs. Howard Archibald will speak on "Conditions in Europe."

On December 5, the merchant members of the club will hold a "shopping tour" bazaar in the clubrooms, of which details will be announced later. Two delegates were named to attend the League Against War and Fascism, meeting on Monday, November 16, and report back to the club.

Seeks Parole For Husband

Associated Press
Oklahoma City, Nov. 10.—The wife of a state penitentiary convict, in a letter asking Governor E. W. Marland to grant him clemency, wrote:

"Dearest governor:
"I love you from your feet to your head and all the way from my heart out. I don't know much about how to work up to a parole but I need my husband."

Synthetic World Is Forecast

Dr. Allen Harris, M.P.P., Tells Women Of New Discoveries.

"We are settling down to an age which is going to make the mechanical age look like a Sunday school picnic," was the way in which Dr. Allen Harris, M.P.P., prefaced his picture of the coming era of synthetic foods, synthetic clothes and synthetic textile, in an intensely interesting address before the University Women's Club last night at the Y.W.C.A.

Dr. Harris based his talk on the effect of scientific research upon conditions today, noting some of the remarkable discoveries that had been made by research workers in the laboratories, and their impact upon the practical business field. Concerning wood alone, once so big a factor in fuel and construction, one scientist recently had stated that the world would not suffer much if all wood products disappeared, as there were so many substitutes.

While theoretically this might be true, the speaker noted, actually considerable inconvenience would be caused in many industries. For instance, $450,000,000 of American money was invested in the pulp, paper and allied industries in Canada. A picture was given of the gigantic effort being made by the United States to plant trees over about 100,000,000 acres formerly used for growing cotton. This suggested the importance of wood pulp in the rayon industry. In the last ten years the only increase in textile industry had been in the synthetic class. Cellophane, another wood product, had become almost a nuisance, he stated.

Dr. Harris spoke of the new uses made in the use of substitutes for oil, artificial rubber, the soy bean which, in various forms was now being used in the manufacture of motor parts, and told of recent discoveries whereby any kind of wood could be duplicated.

Fear of war and its effects in Europe was the impetus which led to many of these scientific discoveries. Great Britain and Germany being particularly active in the field of experiments along the lines of hastening the growth of crops and other food products.

In conclusion, the speaker declared that British Columbia was most advantageously situated, both for the present and the coming age. It was in the universities that much of the original research work was done, although the general public knew little until such discoveries were commercialized, and Dr. Harris thought the universities deserved more credit for doing the original thinking.

Dr. Olga Jardine, president of the University Women's Club, presided. The pleasure of the occasion was added to by the singing of Mrs. W. H. Wilson, who was ably accompanied by Mrs. Charles Conyers.

Mrs. MacInnis Of Vancouver Dead

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Vancouver has lost one of its oldest residents in the death of Mrs. Mary Stewart MacInnis, ninety-six-year-old church and social worker and widow of the late Alexander MacInnis. She died at her home here Sunday following several weeks' illness.

Mrs. MacInnis was born in Glasgow, County, Ontario, where her grandmother, a widow with ten children, had come from the Isle of Skye in 1816. One of her sisters passed her one hundredth birthday.

Surviving are three sons and one daughter, all of Vancouver, and a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren in eastern Canada.

Essay Winner

A trip to New York for President Roosevelt's dedication of the Statue of Liberty, a gold medal, and a visit to France as a guest of French World War veterans were awarded Edna Falk, above, seventeen, of Pueblo, Colo., for her essay on "What the Statue of Liberty Means to the American People." Edna's essay was called the best of 125,000 in a contest sponsored by the Federal Park Service.

Proposed By Atlantic Phone

A proposal of marriage by trans-Atlantic telephone, acceptance, a hurried trip to England, quick wedding at the registry office—then this: Sam Lerner, author of "Is It True What They Say About Dixie?", varying the old custom of carrying the bride across the threshold by totting Dorothy Davis down the steps of the registry office in London. Al Hoffman, one of Lerner's associates, is beaming on the happy pair.

Society

Mrs. K. C. MacDonald was a luncheon hostess today at the Union Club, honoring the visiting wives of the members of the Legislative Council party. The hall, drawing room and dining-room were gay with chrysanthemums in various shades. Assisting in serving at the tea hour were Mrs. Bruce Hutchinson, Mrs. N. W. Whitaker, Mrs. C. E. Laundry and Miss Eileen MacDonald.

Miss Eleanor Holstman will entertain at a dinner party this evening at her home on Shasta Place in compliment to Miss Betty Bechtel and Miss Pamela Charlewood, both of whom will be married shortly. Miss Holstman and her guests will later attend the ball at Government House. Included in the dinner guests will be Miss Betty Bechtel, Miss Pamela Charlewood, Miss Jean Lennox, Miss K. Wilson and Messrs. C. W. Stanbury, Tom Austin, Royden Morris, Arthur Fraser and Charles Holstman.

Mrs. Albert F. Griffiths, Cherry Bank, who has been spending the last ten days in Vancouver, has returned to her home here.

Among passengers on board the Canadian National West Indies liner R.M.S. Lady Nelson, sailing from Boston last week-end, was Mr. John Dean of Victoria, en route to Demerara, West Indies.

Mrs. Van der Vliet entertained at the tea hour this afternoon at her home on Dufferin Avenue in honor of her sister, Miss Peggy Lindsay, Miss Pamela Charlewood and Miss Betty Bechtel, brides-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manning of Sprout Lake and Albert are spending a few days in Victoria, having come down here following the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Mr. G. F. Hunt, which took place at Westholme on Saturday.

Mrs. Josephine Wark of Klitka Lodge, Sprout Lake, accompanied by Miss Lamont, is spending a few days at the Empress Hotel before proceeding south, where Mrs. Wark will spend the winter months at Pasadena.

Captain and Mrs. H. E. Molson of Vancouver, who came over to Victoria today, to attend the ball at Government House this evening, are the guests of their cousins, Captain and Mrs. W. Hobart Molson, Rockland Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Nation of Vancouver, who have come over to Victoria to attend the ball at Government House this evening, will be the guests of Mr. Nation's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ker, Shasta Place, while in Victoria.

Mr. Henry Hejler, Union Club, entertained at an "after-five" party this afternoon at the Beach Hotel, when the affair was largely attended by many Victorians and visitors in Victoria from the mainland for the ball to be held at Government House this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wragg of Union Bay, who came down to Victoria to attend the Smith-Hamilton wedding and who have been the guests of Mrs. Wragg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wragg, William Street, while here, have returned to their home up the island.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westmoreland have taken up permanent residence in Victoria after making a circle of the North American continent, leaving Vancouver by way of the Panama Canal and West Indies to England, returning to Canada by way of Churchill, Manitoba.

Among the guests registered at the Dominion Hotel are Mr. W. E. Hoigate, Vancouver; Mr. H. M. Orr, Vancouver; Mr. E. Glog, Vancouver; Mr. T. A. Miller, William Lake, B.C.; Mr. C. B. ## Personality Factor In Success

Dr. H. Anderson Is Heard By Big Group At "Y"

About eighty-five girls greeted Dr. Henrietta Anderson as she opened the first talk of the "Growing a Personality" course sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. last night. The aspect of human relationships was taken as her topic.

Dr. Anderson declared selfishness and jealousy the cause in many cases, of differences between people. The same thought may be applied in a larger sense and recognized as being in no small way as the cause of problems between nations.

TOLERANCE URGED

The speaker dealt with the subject of human relationships under three headings, the home, the business, and the social life. The value of give and take in the home was emphasized—be intolerant of one's own peculiarities and tolerant of others. Relationships in business are often hard because of the absence of a common denominator found in the home. A sense of responsibility towards associates is essential. In this connection Dr. Anderson quoted from Ruskin, "we are deeply bound to those who succeed, but more deeply bound to those who fail," and went on to say that "you can't legislate souls into the Kingdom of Heaven and no man can save his brother."

This subject, taken from a social point of view, was said to have the advantage of choosing one's companionships, but with this freedom comes the added responsibility of choosing wisely, she maintained.

INFLUENCE ON OTHERS

In her closing thought Dr. Anderson pointed out the importance of the fact that we take our personalities with us everywhere we go and the influence we exert on others is expected to be good in proportion to our natural endowments. Only if we can say at the end of each day that we have sincerely tried to measure up to a high standard of daily living can we be satisfied, she concluded.

Miss Willena Graham introduced the speaker and mentioned that the presence of such an encouraging number of girls spoke well of the popularity of the speaker.

Miss Graham also announced the speakers and subjects for the remainder of the course as follows: "The World of Thought," Mr. H. L. Smith; "Physical Well Being," Mrs. D. M. Duncan; "Principles of Living," Mrs. W. J. Graham; with "The Life Beautiful" as the final subject of the series of talks.

Weddings

JOHNSTONE-RICHARDSON

Port Alberni, Nov. 10.—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Richardson was the scene of a wedding on Saturday evening, November 7, when their eldest daughter, Margaret Mary, was united in marriage to Mr. Dennis Bruce Johnstone, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ernest Johnstone of Vancouver. In an improvised alcove of late autumn blossoms from which was suspended a trio of white petalled wedding bells, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Glen Stevenson, rector of All Saints' Church. Mr. John Evans supported the bridegroom.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a smart gown of bronze crepe, fashioned with tunic effect and turban hat in harmonizing color, with corsage bouquet of white carnations. Misses Dorothy and Jessie Richardson were bridesmaids for their sister, and wore rust-colored silk crepe. They also wore corsage bouquets of white carnations. After a short holiday at Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone will reside in Calgary district, Port Alberni.

SMITH-HAMILTON

The marriage of Margaret Forrest, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hamilton, 1269 Denman Street, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith of 1403 Haultain Street, was quietly solemnized on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the vestry of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Rev. A. S. Imrie, D.D., officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a smart Russian tunic frock of vintage red silk, with matching felt hat and a corsage of Ophelia roses. Miss Florence Ellis attended the bride and wore a frock of dark blue silk trimmed with white, a blue hat to match and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. Charles Tredwell supported the bridegroom. After the marriage service the wedding party, with relative and friends, assembled at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 1403 Haultain Street, where the reception was held. Mrs. Hamilton, wearing a navy blue dress with hat to match, and Mrs. Smith, wearing a blue ensemble, welcomed the guests.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the table, which had for further decoration pale pink tulle surrounding the cake, with tall pink tapers in silver holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride donning for traveling a black fur-trimmed coat.

On their return to Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith will make their home on Menzies Street. Among the many gifts received, the former associates of the bride at David Spencer Ltd. presented her with a handsome dinner service.

CHILD'S GOOD HEALTH AND SPIRITS INDICATE WHETHER HE GETS SUFFICIENT FOOD

The number of tablespoons of food which a child eats is often a matter of anxious concern to the parent. With few exceptions she bases her expectation of how much the child will eat, upon what she herself could enjoy.

A tablespoon or two of food seems to her to be starvation rations, even though the dimpling proportions of her offspring give this belief the lie.

SANDWICH AND MILK

One mother complained that her boy had no appetite—for instance at lunch he ate only a sandwich and drank a glass of milk. Yet, if this sandwich had been made of two, full-sized pieces of bread, spread generously with butter, and between them was a filling of cheese, or meat, or eggs or peanut butter or jelly, and if, in addition the glass of milk were whole and not skimmed milk, this would have been sufficient food for this one meal. The ideal lunch would have included a piece of fruit and a cookie or two, but there should be no cause for worry if they are missing.

The real test of whether a child is getting enough to eat is not the number of tablespoons of food he consumes, but his obvious good health and spirits. We know that people have individual abilities of making use of their food. The roly poly often is—despite scoffs—a relatively light eater, and the string-bean individual an enormous one. The difference lies in their energy and activity and their glandular make-up.

CHILDREN'S FOOD JAGS

Likewise, most children go on food jags at which period they eat eagerly and blithely and these excesses are balanced by periods when their appetites are poor and their tastes finicky. So, too much need not be made of exactly how much food a child consumes, or the mother worry because it does not meet the consumption capacities of some other child. If the child is exposed to a wholesome diet, and has the rest and the outdoor activity which he needs, the chances are the amount of food he eats will meet his needs.

"School Lunches" is Mrs. Elderd's leaflet which will help you with this problem. Send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Elderd of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Mrs. Hamber Visits Local Council Body

Is Welcomed as Honorary National Officer and Learns of History and Achievements of Women's Group; Tea Served

Mrs. Eric Hamber, who is an honorary vice-president of the National Council of Women and also an honorary life member, which honor was bestowed upon her by the New Westminster council, was welcomed at the monthly business meeting of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon, held in the Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. Hamber, who was accompanied by her secretary, Mrs. M. Rice, and Miss Sara Spencer, was received by the two honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. William Grant and Mrs. W. J. H. Holmes. Mrs. Spofford cordially welcomed the distinguished visitor, and Dr. Olga Jardine presented her with a corsage bouquet of roses and carnations.

HISTORY REVIEWED
Mrs. Spofford, in her formal greeting to Mrs. Hamber, briefly reviewed the history of the Victoria Local Council since its organization forty-two years ago by Lady Aberdeen, during her regime at Rideau Hall. Reference was made to the formation of the Friendly Help Society by the council, and the president also touched upon the various legislative measures, designed to protect women and children, brought about under its aegis.

Conveners of several of the standing committees gave brief reports, among those speaking being Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie, convener of recreation and national parks; Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, public safety; Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas, films; Dr. Olga Jardine, citizenship; Miss Crescor, public health, and Mrs. Allan Campbell, League of Nations.

WANT BORSAL SYSTEM
The council decided to forward to the national council, with a view to its being before the royal commission on penitentiaries, the need for some system as the Borsal system in Canada, owing to the increase in the number of youthful offenders and the desirability of their segregation from older, hardened offenders.

Allegations were made concerning conditions at Oakalla, and Mrs. Spofford, Mrs. Mudge Hall and Mrs. J. E. Macdonald were appointed a committee to investigate the allegations.

The council endorsed a recommendation from the Provincial Women's Institutes favoring the preservation of the Oyster River beach as a national park, and will forward the suggestion to the national council for presentation to the federal authorities.

MEETINGS CURTAILED
Mrs. Spofford gave an interesting report of the recent provincial council meeting, noting that a uniform fee of $5 from each local council was passed, together with a decision to hold provincial meetings once a year only, thus curtailing expense. She also told of the letter received from the Attorney-General promising improvements in the quarters for women prisoners in Oakalla.

At the December meeting of the local council, brief addresses will be given by Alfred Carmichael on the Federal Housing Act, and by E. C. Manning, chief forester, on the same phase of his work.

The meeting adjourned to have tea in the lounge, where members were introduced to Mrs. Hamber. Tea was convoked by Mrs. Bertha Parsons, assisted by Mrs. A. E. Johnson, Mrs. A. S. Christie, Miss L. M. Savory, Mrs. D. C. Colclough and Miss Foxall, and presiding at the prettily-appointed tea table with its centre of single pink chrysanthemums were Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael.

Metropolitan Ladies' Aid—Mrs. W. H. Ozard presided at the regular monthly meeting of Metropolitan Ladies' Aid. The treasurer's report showed a substantial sum realized from the W.B.A. banquet, which was recently held in the schoolroom. A message of appreciation was received from the members of that organization. Arrangements were completed for the annual bazaar, which will be held on Friday, November 20. Mrs. M. Nicol and Mrs. F. W. Wells and Mrs. W. H. Harris and Mrs. A. Jones, conveners of groups one and two, will have charge of the two stalls of plain sewing and fancy work. Mrs. C. W. Plumb will look after the sale of novelties, and Mrs. G. Jones the "white elephant." The Chummy Club, with Mrs. Heater convening, will sell home-made candy, and the Mission Circle with Miss Reid Church in charge, will offer an attractive assortment of place cards. Afternoon tea will be served by Mrs. Williams and a capable committee. Mrs. Harte will serve luncheon to those assisting with the arrangements and any friends who care to attend. A tea will be held next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. J. C. Smith, Faithful Street, by Mrs. M. Nichol and Mrs. Williams. A cordial invitation is extended to members and friends.

Will Marry

It is all settled now that film actress Merle Oberon and David Niven are to be married. Miss Oberon has confirmed reports she will wed the handsome Britisher, who joined the Hollywood picture colony to woo the lady of his native land. The date has not been set. The engaged couple are shown above at a recent Hollywood preview.

CAKE LIKE A FORT

A baby who had an unusual birthday cake is three-year-old Daniel Massey, son of Raymond Massey, the famous stage and screen star, and Adrienne Allen, the well-known actress, and nephew of Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London.

Daniel is determined to be a soldier when he grows up. In deference to this wish his birthday cake was made in the shape of a fort—with candles on three of its towers.

His father's present was a Guardsman's red coat and a black bushy, made to measure. Another present was a red-and-white sentry box.

The guests at this military party included little Sarah Marshall, daughter of the stage and screen stars, Herbert Marshall and Edna Best, and Susan Holman, the baby daughter of Vivien Leigh, who was recently awarded a film contract by British studios.

U.B.C. Students Bar Spanish Speakers

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 10.—The Students' Council at the University of British Columbia yesterday refused to give sanction to a meeting of the Students' League which was to have been addressed by a Spanish delegation. No reason for the refusal was announced.

The Spanish delegation is composed of Hon. Marcelino Domingo, former minister of the Spanish Republic; his wife, Senora Domingo; Isabella de Palencia, Spanish ambassador-elect to Sweden, and Rev. Father Sarasola, a Basque Catholic priest.

The delegation addressed a meeting here yesterday evening.

New Gas Mask

Gas masks won't be able to be used as disguises in the next war if the new type developed in France is adopted. As pictured above in an exhibit in Paris, gas masks with transparent fronts reduce the horrors of war to the extent of permitting pretty faces to be seen even during a gas attack.

The mallard duck feeds mainly at night, discovering its food by touch rather than sight.

Y.W.C.A. Opens Appeal Shortly

Association One of Oldest Youth Movements

At the beginning of next week one of the oldest youth movements in the world, the Young Women's Christian Association, will be making a financial appeal in Victoria to raise the sum of $5,000 to maintain essential but non-revenue-producing services.

The appeal has been made necessary because the prevalence of unemployment in recent years has forced residence rates to be reduced, while the ever-increasing needs of the young women in the community have called for greatly enlarged services.

How important those services are is shown by the extent of the growth of the association during the eighty years since its foundation. Starting from one small club in London, England, the Y.W.C.A. now has branches in the major cities of fifty-six nations.

The extent of the field it covers gives the organization a wealth of experience in the meeting of all types of problems and in the advancement of social progress.

QUADRUPLE OBJECT

The achievements of the association are well outlined in the words of Miss Mary Dingman, a member of the "Y" world council, who visited Victoria recently.

"The four phases of 'Y' work which are being strongly emphasized today are—our Christian basis and the deepening of spiritual experiences, removal of the barriers of race, nationalities and classes, protection and opportunities for youth, and the creating of a social force which is felt in the community."

The Young Women's Christian Association throughout Canada have explored the field of recreative education in many directions, aiming chiefly to provide outlets and development for the interests of the young wage-earning girls occupied in business and industry and in household employment; seeking also to meet the needs of those girls who are beyond school age, but have not succeeded in finding employment, or who have lost their employment. The response to opportunities for leisure time activities of an educational character shows considerably increased interest all over the country.

The Y.W.C.A. holds a philosophy for the use of leisure time, namely, that it is not enough merely to provide for filling in time but that there should be created an environment of choice and a development of initiative, that activities should be purposeful and made valuable for future use.

Even play, under trained leadership, can be a vital experience, can express personality and add values to character. Hobbies can be creative and adventurous, leading to thrilling experiences.

Through all the group activities there is plenty of good, wholesome fun for high spirits, and fellowship which adds much to the joy of life. Service is the keynote, the practical and spiritual being happily and effectively combined in the various undertakings in the interests of the young womanhood of Victoria.

OPENS NOVEMBER 16

The financial campaign will open Monday, November 16, and will continue until November 23.

The drive has for its chairman Mrs. Roy Angus. Mrs. H. M. Cassidy is chairman of the special names committee, and Dr. Olga Jardine, Mrs. R. Felton and Mrs. Alex Stewart are in charge of the canvassing divisions.

Eight distinguished ladies, Miss Kathleen Agnew, Mrs. D. M. Duncan, Mrs. G. Hamilton, Mrs. F. MacPherson, Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, Mrs. Hermann M. Robertson, Mrs. J. W. Spencer and Mrs. W. G. Wilson, are acting as patronesses.

The advisory board for the campaign is composed of James Forman, C. W. Pangman, E. E. Wootton, Charles French and John L. Clay.

Taxation Not To Stop U.S. Gifts

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 10.—The belief United States taxation will not become so burdensome as to deter private gifts for educational and social purposes is expressed in the annual report of the Carnegie Corporation, made public by Frederick P. Keppel, president.

Grants of $3,700,000 were made by the corporation in 1935-36 to colleges, universities and other educational institutions in the United States, Canada and other parts of the British Empire, the report said.

Cost of Relief Food Increases

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 10.—The Vancouver civic relief committee consider readjustment of relief allowances owing to increased commodity costs.

Provincial Health Department figures reveal that in British Columbia the monthly food cost for a family of two adults and three children increased from $81.20 in July, 1935, to $83.57 in August, 1936, an increase of 7.6 per cent.

At Baby Legacy Court Hearing

Recovered from a recent serious illness, Mrs. Gus Graziano was entering the courthouse in Toronto to press her claims for the Toronto stork race award when the above picture was taken. Accompanying her was her husband and ahead of them walked their attorney, Mrs. Graziano is the mother of ten children, all of whom, she declares, are eligible in the competition for the prize of $500,000 under the will of the late Charles Vance Millar. The next court hearing is set for November 16.

Marriage as Profession Is Aim

International Body's Stand; Lady Aberdeen Resigns

London (Special Correspondence)
Widespread recognition of marriage as a profession for women is the aim of many delegates to the Congress of the International Council of Women, which met recently at Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia.

More than 200 delegates, representing some 40,000,000 women of forty-two nations, have been attending the conference, which was opened by Isabel March, daughter of the late President of the United States, who has now resigned the presidency and who is to be nominated for the Nobel Peace prize in recognition of her long and able leadership.

Indian delegates included Dr. Narayan of Bombay and Mrs. Deshpande from Bengal.

As a result of the deliberations at the congress, a scheme to organize marriage on professional lines has been set on foot. Committees have been established to take practical measures to force governments to arrange for compulsory insurances as the first step.

Resolutions proposed by Mrs. Kralj of Ljubljana, Slovenia, state that, in the opinion of the Congress, housewives should be compulsorily insured for accidents or illness, or for the work of housekeeping should be considered a skilled profession like that of doctors or teachers.

Seeks Divorce

A divorce from William D. Miller, high school teacher, has been asked by Caroline Miller (above), thirty-three, author of the Pulitzer Prize novel, "Lamb In His Bosom," according to reports from Waycross, Ga. Mr. Miller asks custody of their son, William Jr. They have two other sons.

BRITISH DEBATE SPAIN SLAUGHTER

London, Nov. 10.—Prime Minister Baldwin yesterday told the House of Commons the British government "have done and are doing all they can and with some result—but not with all results we could have hoped for—to prevent these terrible outrages on either side in Madrid."

Replying to a suggestion by Seymour Coombs, Labor, suggesting a British parliamentary delegation go to Madrid "to prevent the slaughter of the civil population," Mr. Baldwin said "all possible steps" had been taken by Britain.

"I don't think the further action suggested would under the existing circumstances be likely to serve any useful purpose," he said.

Lord Cranborne, Foreign Undersecretary, revealed Britain had protested yesterday to the Spanish insurgent authorities over the capture of Fred MacMahon and Joe Boyle, members of the Scottish ambulance unit on the Madrid front. Representations had been made to secure their immediate release, he informed the House.

Witness Found To Be Missing

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—In the belief that Abel Ducayla, a witness in the San Francisco police graft inquiry, had been kidnapped or fled the country toward Montreal, or British Columbia, Edwin N. Atherton, chief graft investigator, yesterday asked immigration authorities on the Canadian border to watch for the man.

Ducayla was arrested several weeks ago and appeared as a witness against two men took Ducayla away from his ranch near here in a car.

Howard Philbrick, assistant chief graft investigator, said Ducayla's life had been threatened just before he disappeared. He added that last Friday two men took Ducayla away from his ranch near here in a car.

The Other Woman Lives Just Around the Corner

IT may seem unreasonable, but most men cannot understand why a woman who is usually happy and loving should have recurring periods when her whole character seems changed. He cannot appreciate the distress and discomfort that all women must endure. He does not know what it is to be harassed with an aching back and falling energy. All he does know is that other women seem more cheerful by comparison.

Are you such a three-quarter wife? Don't let the ordeals that all women face cause you avoidable discomfort or endanger your home. Do as so many wise women have—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle-age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife! Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and go "Smiling Through."

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

CHAPTER I

Bitter December wind from Long Island found swept the station platform as the 8.34 train brought its usual crowd of commuters home to Bobbs Neck. Philip Canfield shivered, but very slightly, in his $275 overcoat while he walked a dozen yards and stepped into his heated car through the door opened by the chauffeur. Thomas Waddell shivered just a trifle in a $90 coat as he hurried to his car, also heated, where Mrs. Waddell awaited him in the driver's seat. Frank Osborn shivered quite perceptibly in his coat, $47.50 and three years old, and the shabby car which Mrs. Osborn had driven down to meet him was unheated. Ralph Hanson shivered hardly at all, but had to hunch his shoulders in his $18.50 coat and walk very fast indeed, to keep from shivering, all the eight blocks to his home.

Putting on her hat and coat, Marcia spoke to herself in the mirror. "Can you be the lady-unafraid-of-gossip?"

steps and through a door, the opening of which signalled their maid to serve dinner. Mr. Osborn left Mrs. Osborn out at the sidewalk of their rented home and then drove around to the garage at the back, where a little difficulty with the doors delayed him for a few minutes, so that when he had waded through the snow in the yard and reached the house by the back door Mrs. Osborn had almost completed the transfer of dinner from warming oven to table. Mr. Hanson alighted on his front porch from the wings of the wind and stamped the snow off his shoes, where Mrs. Hanson opened the door and he darted in before the house lost any precious heat to the outdoors.

Marcia Canfield greeted her father in the library when he came down from his room to await dinner. She was sitting sideways in a wing chair, reading; her prize-winning legs, hanging over an arm of the chair, waved absently in time to some impatient and private rhythm. The butler carried in a tray, bearing two glasses. Mr. Canfield took one, but Marcia shook her head.

"Just her daddy's old-fashioned girl," said Mr. Canfield.

Marcia smiled. "Dad, I asked to have dinner right away tonight. Will that suit you?"

"Perfectly."

"Then you may serve when you are ready," Marcia told the butler, who, correctly, was James to the family and Hopsie in front of guests. "Awkins withdrew, with the merest suggestion of reproach in the arch of one eyebrow.

"Going out are you?" asked Mr. Canfield.

"It's trout night for the Stagecraft Guild play," said Marcia. "They have a simply swell show this time—'Half-acre in Eden.' I had a rotten part in the spring play, if you remember. Maybe I'll have better luck this time. I'd jump at any one of a dozen parts."

Philip Canfield took the second cocktail, lighted a cigarette.

"I wonder why you amateurs do it," he said. "Granted that some of you have talent and all of you work hard, your product still falls far short of a professional job. What the dickens is there in it? A chance to show off? An escape for thwarted ambitions? Or do you believe you are really acting when you get up in front of your neighbors—instead of only playing at acting? Excuse any implied insults, of course."

Marcia smiled. She knew that her father asked questions actually to get information; he was not the kind of

"Awkins announced dinner."

"I should think you'd be busy enough already," Mr. Canfield carelessly renewed conversation over the soup, "with your Village Welfare work, your bridge club, your story hours for the kids at the library, your heaven-knows-what-else. My word, when does the modern young woman have time for the men?"

Marcia colored, and immediately he realized that his aimless talk had led him to an unfortunate topic.

"My dear, I'm sorry!"

"It's perfectly all right, dad," said Marcia, brightly enough. "I hope I haven't been sickening the household all these weeks with an invitation of a heart-broken maiden. I'm not really, you know. Frank Kendrick was a disappointment to a lot of other people, as well as to me. It's bad fun to be known as a jilted woman, of course, but I was really more hurt by the mess of the rest of his affairs. Anyway, you'd be sur-who had lived with an uncle while growing up.

Simply to have lost the best friend she had ever had would have been cruel enough, Marcia realized. He had always been "best friend." But to experience the shock of his stepping out of character, his permitting the announcement of their engagement to be made on the eve of a flight he must have foreseen, was more cruel. That he could so easily expose her to humiliation hurt her more than did the humiliation itself.

Although they tried jealously to guard the secret of the embezzlement, Frank's friends could not keep Bobbs Neck in general from relishing the two commonly-known facts: Kendrick's engagement to Marcia Canfield had been announced. Kendrick had thereupon, as a village gossip expressed it, "buttoned his coat and walked to the train."

Island Offers Winter Sports

C. Wood Tells Junior Chamber of Forbidden Plateau's Natural Possibilities

Switzerland was built up through its facilities for winter sports and snow-covered mountain grandeur, but little has it been realized that Vancouver Island, through its Forbidden Plateau, has the makings of one of the finest winter sports grounds on the Pacific Coast. Clinton Wood, proprietor of the Forbidden Plateau Lodge, informed a general meeting of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

Mr. Wood told the members that the plateau, through its snow-covered surroundings during the winter months, offered skiing facilities which, if sufficiently publicized, would attract Pacific Northwest tourists to the island not only as a summer playground, but also as a winter one.

A two-mile ski-run, on which one should be able to attain an excellent speed, was built this summer, the speaker made known, and which should provide some good sport for those wishing to try out the skiing art this winter.

Leslie Osborne spoke in favor of the promotion of this fine future asset and suggested the holding of an annual international skiing tournament between Island, Vancouver and Seattle contestants. Other members were in accord with supporting the project.

It was pointed out that the Plateau had unique advantages over other Pacific Coast winter sports localities. Unlike the low temperatures and heavy snowfalls in the other locales, the Plateau has but a light fall and the temperature is moderate, which tends toward better and more comfortable conditions for fun-seekers.

The point of transportation was brought up and it was intimated that if the promotion of this plan proved a success transportation facilities could easily be provided for.

It was also intimated that Courtney, the last stopping-off place before the jump to the plateau, would be willing to contribute toward the promotion of the project, as that town would be a big benefactor.

Accommodations at the plateau are not so great at present although this could soon be remedied if the influx of sport-seekers in that area warranted such, the visitor said.

Mr. Wood cited an incident where he came in contact with a Norwegian, who proved to be quite a master with skis and skates. The Norwegian, he said, was astounded at the marvelous facilities offered at the plateau for winter sports and was of the opinion that people of the island must have been blind not to see the advantages in it.

Vancouver Money For Spain Loyalists

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 10.—A cheering overflow crowd of some 3,000 persons drew into pockets for close to $1,000 in donations yesterday evening after slim, ascetic Senora Isabella de Palencia had given her version of the Madrid government's stand in the Spanish civil war.

The ambassador-elect to Sweden of the Madrid government spoke to 2,500 in the auditorium and to more than 400 who overflowed into Moosa Hall. Blocks away, her address was carried to the overflow listeners by means of loud speakers.

Assailing the non-intervention pact as an instrument "against a legitimately constituted government," Senora Palencia contended the triumph of the Spanish government over the Fascist insurgents would help peace throughout the world.

Food From U.S. Sent to Spain

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 10.—A cargo of 3,500 tons of food, clothing and medical supplies for Spain's embattled government forces is aboard the Spanish freighter Sil, which sailed yesterday from Brooklyn. Its exact destination was uncertain.

For two months scattered organizations had been collecting materials,

SECURE DATA ON FRANCHISE

Junior Chamber to Gather Information on Street Car Question

Data on both sides of the B.C. Electric franchise question will be sought by a committee of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be presented to the public in the event of a public vote being called on the matter, a general meeting of the Junior Chamber decided last night.

The committee, which will be in the form of a study group, will study conditions as they stand today. It will secure all available information for and against the franchise to be made available to the public.

It was decided to secure the required sum of $10 to complete the erection of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's direction sign on the top of Mount Tolmie, in the near future. The direction finder will be erected for the convenience of tourists, pointing out the surrounding attractions from that vantage point. Leslie Osborne made known that Reeve William Crouch of Saanich, had granted the Junior Chamber the right to go ahead with their project.

Warren W. Martin was appointed to secure more data on the feasibility of having the Salt Spring Island Ferry route extended to Pender Island.

Further efforts will be made to stir up interest at up-island centres in the formation of junior chambers. Alderman T. W. Hawkins's letter asking the Junior Chamber for support in requesting the Public Works Department of the provincial government to continue work on the proposed cut-off on the Island Highway between Cobble Hill and Koksilah, was laid on the table pending further information.

Conway Parrott was chosen Junior Chamber delegate to attend a meeting Saturday morning of the executive of the public works committee of the City Council, when the question of removing the traffic stop sign on Fort Street, at Oak Bay Junction, will be discussed. Representations from the Chamber two weeks ago to the City Council asked for the removal of the sign.

Vancouver, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press)—Edward G. Metson, twenty-five, was in a hospital here today with a fracture of the skull and other injuries suffered last Friday while working at a logging camp at Rock Bay, B.C. Metson was brought here Sunday aboard a Union Steamship.

Remembrance

By COL. R. ROSS NAPIER

(When the Canadians were in the neighborhood of Mons in November, 1918, the solitary grave of one of the original Expeditionary Force was discovered, the words were still decipherable: "Stranded, I wait the tide's return.")

One with the dust, beneath an alien sky,
For me no cenotaph, no storied urn;
The tide of battle left me where I lie,
Stranded—alone—I wait the tide's return.

The flash of distant guns that rend the night,
In crimson marks the ebb-tide's gathering crest,
The flow will come, that, in its reddened might,
Shall cover me. Till then I may not rest.

The flood-tide labored, and the dawning day
Broke, when the night of doubt and fear was past;
The blood-red torrent reached him where he lay;
Passed over him. Perchance he sleeps at last.

Forget them not, for whom no tide returns,
Who still must do their daily duty of pain,
For whom the star of hope no longer burns,
Who hearken for the sunset gun—in vain.

There is the harder task, who fought and bled,
Who paid the tribute it was theirs to give,
This day do honor to our glorious dead;
Throughout the years, remember those who live.

Diseases Seen Serious Menace

House Discusses Incidence of Venereal Troubles in Province

The venereal disease problem in British Columbia was discussed for more than an hour in the Legislature yesterday afternoon when E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, and H. E. Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East, moved for the appointment of traveling government clinics portraying the effects of the diseases, for government lecturers to educate the public in their ravages.

An amendment moved by Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, leaving the matter to the new provincial section of venereal disease control was standing when Ernest Bakewell, Social Constructive, Mackenzie, adjourned debate on the issue.

Mr. Winch Sr. read at length from pamphlets issued by Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service in which it was said that "nice people don't talk about it, don't think they have it and don't think they should do anything for those who do have it."

Up to a short time ago radio broadcasts had suppressed mention of the word "syphilis" and it was only lately that the word had appeared in metropolitan newspapers.

ONE OUT OF TEN
Dr. Parran's estimate was that one out of ten people were infected with syphilis during their lifetime, he said. The provincial secretary's estimate for B.C. showed even a greater proportion.

Mr. Winch questioned why only $44,000 had been voted this year to fight the disease when $75,000 was voted on tuberculosis preventive work.

Harold Winch, seconding, said that the disease struck most often at people between the ages of sixteen and thirty years.

CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS
Many deaths, if analyzed properly would be found due to syphilis rather than to the direct causes attributed, he claimed. Among these were locomotor ataxia, general paralysis of the insane, fifteen per cent of deaths from cardiovascular ailments, one-fifth of nervous diseases and various ailments of the kidney, stomach, liver and other vital organs.

It must be classed, he quoted from medical pamphlets, as "one of the five great killers of the race." "Figures show," he continued, "that many of those infected go so long without treatment because they are unaware of the seriousness of it. It is our duty as legislators to see that people are freely informed about the diseases."

"SERIOUS MENACE"
Dr. Weir, moving the amendment, said the whole House would agree the diseases constituted a "serious menace." That was not the issue now. The issue was how to attack it. The government had already set up a new division of control which was pursuing its investigation as to the best methods of handling the problem.

Traveling clinics might be inadvisable, he said, because they were often not seen by those most needing the education and might become nothing more than a source of delight to the salacious.

Mrs. H. D. Smith, Point Grey, just returned from sessions of the Dominion Health Council at Ottawa, said British Columbia was already in advance of all provinces in handling the diseases and was glad to see further steps being taken. She suggested committees of citizens be formed to communicate with the Canada Health League which proposes an education campaign.

WILL PRESENT STORY PRIZES

Canadian Authors' Association Announces D. Roberts Winner in Competition

Winners in a short story competition sponsored by the Canadian Authors' Association, Victoria and Islands Branch, are Donald Roberts, Duncan; Madeline D'Arcy Gilbey, 2725 Rock Bay Avenue, Victoria, and Maureen Evans, Colquitz, the judges have announced.

Donald Roberts is the first boy to win the first prize of $10 since the inauguration of the contest for young writers four years ago.

Honorable mention was given to Jean Laidman, Malcolm Keith Lorimer, Joan Austen-Leigh, and Ida Patricia Gibson.

Prizes will be presented at a meeting of the Authors' Association Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Women's Institute Rooms, 635 Fort Street, which contestants are invited to attend.

Stories submitted showed a decided advance in standard, and dealt with more typical British Columbian scenes this year, the judges state. The first two winners will have their stories published shortly.

Would Change House Methods

Speaking in the budget debate in the Legislature yesterday, Dougald McPherson, Liberal, Grand Forks-Greenwood, proposed some reforms in parliamentary procedure to save the time of the House.

The budget and throne speech debates could be combined into one, he thought, and he did not see any sense in the members just "rubber-stamping" the estimates which were already printed by the government and never changed.

Touching upon the increased expenditures proposed for next year, he mentioned that the $691,000 relief measure for municipalities removed the "minimum objection" from that quarter, the $400,000 extra for roads could be raised and still not meet the needs and the $50,000 extra for the University of British Columbia was justified because that institution, built at the cost of several millions, would be useless without the funds to run it.

Mr. McPherson started out to discuss the public works vote in greater detail but, after fumbling with some notes, announced he had "lost his bearings," and sat down.

What Californians Think of Victoria

Sold Saws in B.C. Years Ago and Wanted Wife to See It; "Birds on Road Signs Point Toward Mexico"; "B.C. Police Do Effective Work"; "Unofficial Attitude of Customs Officers Appreciated"; "People Charming, But Should Obey Traffic Regulations"

Reaction of visitors who visited Vancouver Island during the summer are contained in replies received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to questionnaires sent out inviting opinions and suggestions.

The following replies were from Californians:

"I sold saws in British Columbia twenty years ago and fell in love with the country and its people, so wanted my wife to see it."

"We came for the English atmosphere."

"The auto camps do not measure up to the standards in the Northwest or California."

"The auto club at Victoria was most helpful."

"We came to see Butchart's Gardens."

"Every place we stayed there was a friendly spirit and absence of the 'snark-em' idea, so prevalent in the United States."

"We missed the English tearooms, which we had expected to find."

"We regretted the lack of care on roads over which we traveled into Victoria and away again."

"We were delightfully treated while in your city."

"We had both been to Victoria before, and wanted to see if it was the delightful place it used to be."

"We were directed to Vancouver Island by newspaper ads."

"We were very courteously treated at the government printing office."

"The English atmosphere attracted us."

"The B.C. Police did some investigation work for us while we were visiting there, and their work was very prompt and effective."

"We remember the Scottish lassies who met us with bagpipes at the boat."

"We appreciated the unofficial attitude of the Canadian customs officers."

"Your main highways to such places as Butchart's Gardens should be widened."

"Your people are charming, if they

License Taken Off Fish Co-operatives

Co-operative societies who buy fish from their own members will be relieved of a $25 provincial fish buyers' license under an amendment to the Fisheries Act given second reading in the B.C. Legislature yesterday.

The co-operative, said Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, did not actually buy fish on the open market but simply collected from their members and it was felt they should have the levy removed.

The United States has over a million teachers in public and private educational institutions.

Splendid Cough Remedy Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient remedy, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

DOUBLE QUICK STARTING with WINTER 76...and TRITON

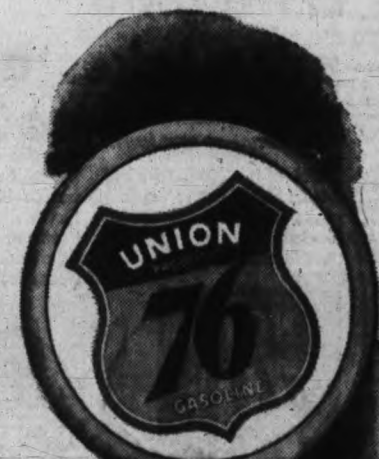

With Triton motor oil in the crankcase and Winter 76 gasoline in your fuel tank you have the combination that produces double quick starting... gives you more power and improved mileage... and reduces cold motor wear.

Winter 76 is refined for cold weather driving. It vaporizes readily in a cold motor and responds instantly you step on the starter.

Triton retains its fluidity at low temperatures, flows freely to the cylinder walls and bearings, and permits the motor to turn over easily at starting. It is 100% pure paraffin-base, least affected by temperature changes. Also, it forms less carbon than other oils. This reduces the tendency of your motor to knock.

Double quick starting and smoother power will be yours all winter long if you use Winter 76 and Triton, available at hundreds of independent dealers and Union Service Stations throughout Western Canada.

Old Cough Yields to Buckley's Mixture

Read What Mr. Gull Says

Hamilton, Ont.: "From the time I was a small boy until the age of thirty-two, I was never free from a hacking cough night and day. Doctors told me I was suffering from chronic bronchitis—that there was no permanent relief. One day I saw an advertisement for Buckley's Mixture. The word 'bronchitis' arrested my attention. I purchased a bottle. It gave me relief. I bought two more and my cough left me completely. That happened six years ago, and the cough has never returned."

BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE will give you instant relief from the strangling torture of Bronchitis, and it acts like a flash on coughs and colds. Why not get a bottle today? BUCKLEY'S is sold everywhere and guaranteed.

Poppyland

By A. O. MARSHALL

Red poppies grow—maybe more numerous now. Since they took away the wire—and peasants used the plough. But how clearly one recalls—poppies looking to the sun. Turning their contemptuous eye on work of bomb and gun. Can that memory ever die—of fields where comrades lie. Asleep, in peace, beneath a foreign sod? Keep faith with them how—we broke no pledges then. Tho' often hope deserted us—yes, even hope of God.

It hardly seems so long ago—that day they called the roll. Our sadly thinned and tired ranks revealed the battle's toll. Wondering who of those we'd left, were mangled, torn, or dead: Who had got his "blighty," in that blasting storm of lead? Across that stretch of level—thru' inventions of the Devil, Poison gas and wire—tearing lumps of shell, Why it's all allowed to be a mystery to me. So aptly it was named—"The lid off Hell!"

Prey, then, don't forget, for there's lots of suffering yet, Among the many who got home at last. Sightless, limbless, some of these, others down with dread disease. All striving bravely to forget the past. Wear, then, a poppy bloom, from some crippled hero's room. Perchance—made by the self-same hand That eased the wound and pain, on that shell-swept hellish plain. Of the loved one that You lost—in Poppyland.

FISH THREAT UP IN HOUSE

Province to Seek Voice in Protecting Resources on Coast

British Columbia will seek the right to a voice in any agreement the Dominion Government may negotiate regarding fisheries on the Pacific Coast, the Legislature decided yesterday in adopting a resolution by Clive Planta, Independent, Peace River.

The motion referred particularly to the possibility of Japanese floating canneries working off the British Columbia coast and depleting the provincial salmon resources, the suggestion being that Canada might seek an international agreement to determine the rights of the different nations over the fishery.

MOTHER SHIP ON COAST

Mr. Planta recalled that a Japanese mother ship, with a flotilla of fishing vessels, had toured the Coast this summer, and pointed to the danger of operations like these on a large scale.

Ernest Bakewell, Social Constructive, Mackenzie, seconded Mr. Planta and argued that B.C. should go further and seek complete control over its fisheries.

Premier Pattullo pointed out to Mr. Bakewell this would mean British Columbia negotiating directly with foreign powers in any convention respecting its fisheries.

Mr. George S. Pearson, Commissioner of Fisheries, agreeing with the resolution, said the menace to B.C. fish resources extended even further than Mr. Planta suggested. A British refrigerator ship had packed halibut off B.C. last year, and this sort of thing was increasing the danger of depletion of the banks could be rapidly depleted despite efforts at conservation.

Regarding the Japanese operations, his department was already closely in contact with Ottawa officials. British Columbia had always been consulted in the past about any new policy on its fisheries, and he did not think there was danger of any action without its knowledge. However, he had no objection to the resolution.

SALT SPRING

Ganges, Nov. 10.—Ganges Chapter I.O.O.F. met last Friday afternoon at Mrs. F. W. Faux's, Ganges Harbor. The treasurer's report included sums for the purchase of poppies for Remembrance Day. Members were asked to meet at Ganges at 10.30 a.m. to attend the Armistice service, November 11, wearing badges and poppies.

Mrs. Basil Wolfe-Merton, convenor of entertainments in aid of the Stewart Endowment fund, reported on arrangements for holding a fashion show in the spring. Mrs. Moorhouse, educational secretary, stated prizes and booklets had been sent to Betty Scoones and Robert Loosmore, winners of highest marks in high school work.

A new member, Miss N. Leigh, read the declaration and two new members were proposed, Mrs. A. R. Layard and Mrs. Davies.

The play being rehearsed in aid of the Canadian Institute for the Blind will be put on this month.

The meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church was held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. M. Mout, Ganges Hill. Mrs. J. D. Reid was in the chair. The treasurer, Mrs. H. Nobbe, reported $62.50 had been cleared at the recent sale of work and tea. Plans were made for holding a social afternoon and silver tea at Mrs. Mout's home November 26. The next monthly meeting will be held at the home of Miss Lees, Ganges Hill, December 3.

Salt Spring Island Golf Club held a dance in Mahon Hall on November 5. Len Acres' orchestra from Victoria supplied the music. Winners of the specialty dances were Miss Molly Morrison and L. G. Mout, and Miss Doreen Crofton and Fred Morris.

Doukhobors Get All Work

While building operations in Rossland, Trail and Tadanac have been very brisk during the year, Doukhobors by the hundreds, working for minimum wages, have secured nearly all the work. R. B. Burns, Liberal, Trail-Rossland, told the B.C. Legislature yesterday. These Doukhobors, he added, took all their earnings back to their community and spent but little with local merchants.

Describing roads in his riding, Mr. Burns said the highway from Rossland to the second summit of the Cascades was in a terrible state with every ounce of surface material blown off, and cars bumping from one point of rock to another.

The member advocated reconstruction of the Rossland-Patterson highway to connect with U.S. Highway No. 22.

Only twenty men were on relief work in Rossland-Trail district, Mr. Burns told the House. Most of these were old-timers and it would be better and more humane to pension some of them off than to ask them to work on roads. His district was penalized as far as work on roads was concerned, receiving only a maintenance grant.

There are those who point out that the United States would step in and protect us. They say the United States does not want anyone else in this country. Probably that is true. But she would not protect us without a price. Are we prepared to pay that price?

The possibility of war in Europe had brought Canada face to face with the necessity of solving her greatest problem—that of a national policy. "Do we want a united Canada, or a Canada at all?" Mr. Massey asked. "These problems must be answered if we are to develop as a nation among the family of nations."

"What is the voice of Canada?" The fact of the matter is that we have no voice at all. Thus we are in a paradoxical and absurd position. We have been given a voice and yet we have not been able to determine what sound that voice should make.

UNIQUE POSITION "Today we find ourselves in a most unique position," Mr. Massey continued. "Since the United States has chosen to cling to the trail and tattered skirts of the Monroe Doctrine and speak in whispers on the back stairs of Europe, the voice of Canada should be that of the New World and listened to accordingly. We could have a voice far stronger than we ever thought we could have."

If Canada ever became a single nation, Mr. Massey said, he doubted very much if, say, British Columbia would ever go to the defence of the Maritime Provinces, or vice versa.

Despite all its weaknesses, Mr. Massey maintained the League of Nations was the best instrument with which to force world peace.

"If the League has completely failed, what have we left as an international body to promote peace?" he asked. "In Canada there has been a peculiar lagging in interest and spontaneous support as far as the League of Nations has been concerned."

Dr. Gerald B. Switzer occupied the chair, introducing Mr. Massey and thanking him for his address.

TOURIST FISH LICENSE CUT

Tourists who want to test their skill against the fighting game fish of B.C. streams and rivers will get a better break in the way of license fees from the provincial government next year.

Through an amendment to the Game Act introduced in the Legislature yesterday by Attorney-General Sloan, non-resident license fees are changed so that for one day's fishing the tourist need only pay $1. He will continue to pay $1 per day up to five days, or a total of not more than $5 if he stays longer.

Previously a flat $5 license was charged non-residents. The new arrangement will make it more attractive for tourists on a short visit to tackle the game fish.

SAYS CANADA MUST DECIDE

Has Reached the Crossroads, Denton Massey Tells Local Audience

Canada had now reached the crossroads and must decide immediately which way she wanted to go—with the British Commonwealth of Nations or as an isolated country, Denton Massey, M.P. for Torton-Greenwood, told a gathering in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the League of Nations, yesterday evening.

He urged more support for the League of Nations, saying "public opinion will set the voice of Canada." Divorced from the British Commonwealth, Mr. Massey said, Canada would become a punitive, little, far-away nation, with as much chance of being heard in world affairs as any of the little states of Europe.

"Can Canada remain neutral in any war in which Great Britain becomes involved?" Mr. Massey asked. "The only way for Canada to be regarded as a neutral country is for her to sever her ties with the British Commonwealth. Then she would have a right to declare herself neutral. But we would no longer be British. We would surrender the prestige and protection that goes with the British Empire."

TRADE WORTH NOTHING

"If Canada should withdraw from the Commonwealth all our trade treaties would be worth nothing, for they were signed by Canada as a part of the Commonwealth. Our place at Geneva would be worth nothing. We must forget all our existing export trade."

"We would return at once to the primitive state which our forefathers left us. We would say to the land-starved nations of Europe and of the world 'Please leave us alone.' How long would we be left alone?"

"There are those who point out that the United States would step in and protect us. They say the United States does not want anyone else in this country. Probably that is true. But she would not protect us without a price. Are we prepared to pay that price?"

Trained Nurses Distribution Poor

New York, Nov. 10.—The trained nurses of the United States have an arithmetic problem that they cannot solve. The problem is set forth in a report of a study of nursing service made by Dr. Esther Lucile Brown of the Russell Sage Foundation.

Too many nurses in some places and not nearly enough in others is the problem. If the nurses can be helped to a solution of it, you will have a better chance of being cared for by a nurse when you are ill, and the nurse may not have to charge so much for her services in order to provide a living for herself.

In Manhattan there is one trained nurse for every 234 persons. This creates an unemployment problem for the nurses. Private duty nurses in such crowded centres spend about five months in twelve out of work. To support themselves for a year on the earnings of seven months means they must charge high fees for their services.

In Schoharie County, N.Y., on the other hand, there is but one trained nurse for every 5,991 persons. There is even greater scarcity of trained nurses in other places. In twenty-six parishes of Louisiana, with a total white population of 244,000, not a single active graduate nurse could be found.

Other difficulties found by Dr. Brown in her study concern the training of the nurses. Some schools for nurses have entrance requirements that are too low. Other schools do not give the nurses adequate classroom training, keeping them busy with hospital routine instead.

Some hospitals, Dr. Brown found, operate nursing schools chiefly to get nursing service for the hospital at the least possible cost. This is a factor in contributing to the oversupply of private duty nurses, she believes.

A national agency to accredit schools of nursing and a national council of nursing examiners, something like the National Board of Medical Examiners for physicians, are recommended in Dr. Brown's report.

Skunk Death Rate On Highways High

Asheville, N.C., Nov. 10.—Skunks are traditionally about the most independent animals one is likely to meet. Secure in their formidable means of defence, they stand their ground against all comers and let the other fellow get out of the road. But they are paying dearly for their failure to recognize something more formidable than themselves—the modern automobile, that can rush up on them and annihilate them before they have time to unlimber their gas-warfare artillery. So dead skunks are found on the highways, far out of proportion to their relative abundance among wild animals.

On three recent drives in the region around Washington, D.C., totaling about 600 miles, B. H. Wilford and J. F. Wilford counted twenty-two dead skunks. They saw no other dead animals at all.

The Wilfords have reported their observations to the weekly Journal, Science.

PAINLESS TRAP IS WINCH PLAN

Urges House Ban Use of Painful Steel Traps in B.C. Woods

Demonstrating a new painless trapping device, which he offered at 50 cents each, Ernest E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, put forth a bill in the Legislature yesterday for the prohibition of steel traps and other pain-producing snares in the woods of British Columbia.

The proposal was sponsored by the S.P.C.A. and several other organizations, he said.

An old-time trapper had told him, he added, that a steel trap damaged a fur where a deadfall and similar snares were just as useful and did not produce pain.

Mr. Winch had some trouble getting his new device to work and explained to the Speaker that "I don't happen to be a trapper." Finally he managed to spring it with some explanations of how it would be placed in the ground.

Attorney-General Sloan then adjourned second reading of the bill. Fifteen other bills were dealt with by the House yesterday.

Amendments to the Male and Female Minimum Wage Acts and the Apprenticeship Act went through the third readings. They give wider powers of enforcement.

The Vital Statistics Act was amended to provide that still-born children must be registered.

A bill advanced by Harold Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East, giving workers the right to organize into trade unions reached debate on second reading, which was adjourned by the Minister of Labor.

DUNCAN

Duncan, Nov. 10.—With outlying districts still to be heard from, the result of the sale of poppies in Duncan amounts to $187. Mrs. G. Kennett was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. G. Jarvis, president of the W.A. to the Cowichan branch of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. H. N. Watson last Friday evening.

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this paragraph and hand it to them, and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer, perhaps from total deafness. The medicine can be prepared at home and is made as follows: Secure from your druggist a 1 oz. bottle of Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home, and add to it 1 qt. of hot water and a little sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective. Every person who has catarrh should give this prescription a trial.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

PROFESSIONAL TENNIS will experience another revival. The boys who play the game for what they can get out of it in the way of dollars-and-cents have at last convinced Fred Perry, Britain's world amateur champion, that it was worth his while to leave the amateur ranks. Announcement of Perry's turning-professional yesterday was somewhat of a surprise. The holder of the British and United States amateur titles, on his visit to Victoria last month to play in exhibition match, led us to believe he had no intention of deserting the amateur ranks at the present time. However, he made no definite statement, and was really quite vague about his plans.

Perry enjoyed a great build-up before he finally took the jump. For the last couple of years there have been rumors galore to the effect that he was going to become a professional. Columns and columns of matter have been turned out with the result Perry received no end of publicity. It will all help in drawing big gates for the forthcoming matches. Perry, playing against Ellsworth Vines and the veteran Bill Tilden, is certain to pack them in. There is little doubt he will make that $100,000 that has been talked about so much. One cannot blame Perry for his action. There is nothing left for him in the amateur ranks and he might as well capitalize on his ability while he can. Perry's turning pro certainly leaves the amateur field wide open for Don Budge, red-headed comet from Oakland, California. Budge should sweep everything before him next season.

It would not surprise us if Perry takes up permanent residence in the United States. The British ace has secured a home in Hollywood and as his actress wife, the former Helen Vinson, has her interests centred in the film colony, it is quite possible Perry will settle down in California. Now that he has turned pro, Perry will likely appear in motion pictures. He turned down several offers in his amateur days.

At the yearling sales a year ago at Saratoga Springs Mrs. Ethel V. Mars invested $106,500 in twenty-five colts and fillies, and experienced horsemen shook their heads and marveled at her willingness to gamble so heavily in juvenile racing stock, the development of which is so uncertain.

Literally speaking she "struck gold." On this investment of $106,500 a profit already has been returned of over $50,000. When Reaping Reward came from behind to beat Pompoon, a stunning surprise, in the New England Futurity (incidentally a futurity in name only) he brought his earnings for the year to $46,825. The son of Sickle-Dustwhirl cost $5,000.

When Talma Dee won the rich Selma Stakes she carried her winnings to $23,780. She cost $25,000. Case Ace, for which Mrs. Mars paid $10,100, won the Arlington Futurity and $37,800. All but six of the twenty-five have contributed something to the grand total of earnings for the stable this year of $193,860.

This reads like a fairy tale, but there is no getting away from cold figures. Mrs. Mars is now the leading money-winning owner of the season and likely to stay at the top as A. G. Vanderbilt in second place is $35,000 behind. It is the second time that a woman has headed the list of winning owners in the United States. Mrs. Dodge Sloane was the first to command this distinction in 1934, when Caldwade was a three-year-old.

WRESTLING

Worcester, Mass.—Steve "Crusher" Casey, 235, Ireland, defeated Jim Coffield, 200, Missouri, two straight falls. Camden, N.J.—Ernie (Dutch) Herner, 216, Sherman, Texas, defeated Tiny Roebuck, 254, Oklahoma, two straight falls.

Wilmington, Del.—Yvon Robert, 218, Montreal, defeated John Kalan, 215, Toronto, one fall, 39.02. (second ended by eufury.)

Strong Squads to Clash In Opening Anscomb Cup Game

Saturday and Wednesday League Elevens Battle at Athletic Park

Play Opens At 2.30 o'Clock

Saturday and Wednesday soccer players will resume their inter-league warfare for possession of the Herbert Anscomb Cup tomorrow afternoon at the Athletic Park when two all-star elevens meet in the first of a best two-out-of-three-game series. The kick-off is set for 2.30 o'clock with Dave McMillan handling the whistle. Herbert Anscomb, M.P.E., donor of the trophy, will kick off the ball to start play.

This will be the first match between teams from the two leagues for several years. For several seasons it was impossible to stage the competition owing to the Wednesday League teams not being affiliated with the provincial association. When the Saturday League squads failed to affiliate this year it put the two leagues on the same footing so it was decided to revive the cup event.

THE LINE-UPS

To oppose the midweek eleven the Saturday League will field a strong attack. Louis DeCosta will be in goal with Ivan Sweeney and Wes Harper in the fullback positions. The halfbacks will be Ernie Loranidin, Roy Barnes and Glen Robbins. The front line which is exceptionally strong will have Gordie Bell alongside him. Scotty Robinson will handle the centre-forward berth with the left flank of the line being composed of Noel Morgan and George Payne.

For reserve duty the team will have John Watt, Eddie Brown-Wally Rowe, Al March and Ronnie Williams. Manager "E. Whyte requests all players to be on hand at the park at 2 o'clock to receive their sweaters and elect a team captain. Following a stiff workout Sunday Manager Charlie Lewis reported his Wednesday League charges in good shape for the opening engagement. One change has been made in the squad. Thompson replacing Robinson on the halfback line. The latter will be unable to play owing to an injury suffered at rugby. Stewartson will be in goal for the midweekers with O'Connell and Cann as backs. On the halfline with Thompson will be McGee and Ken Holmes. Preston, Cockrell, Chapman and Stewart. The reserves will be Les Bradley, Wilkinson and Evans.

STAPLES' TEAM TAKES HOCKEY

Seven Hockey teams entered the Staples Cup event, which is played annually on the Cowichan Cricket and Sports grounds, Duncan. Three were from Victoria and the rest made up of local players, with two from Salt Spring Island. Staples' team tied with G. C. Grant's Victoria side with 17 points each, and in the play-offs, Staples' team won 1 to 0. Nat Staples scoring the winning goal. Teams and points gained were as follows: Staples' 7, Grant's 17, Victoria Captain's team (Phillips) 11, Victoria Secretary's team (Robbins) 9, Bigwood's team 6, Appleby's team 3, Dobell's team 2.

Youth Gets His Christmas Wish

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 10.—Roscoe Karns, comedian, decided to get his Christmas shopping done early, so he asked his fourteen-year-old son what he wanted.

"Tickets to the southern California-Washington football game," replied young Karns.

The game will be placed Saturday at Seattle. It may decide the coast conference championship and the west's choice in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Karns said his son would see the gridiron giant, "from somewhere near the fifty-yard line, I hope."

Oak Bay Squad Captures Rugby

The Oak Bay High School Boys defeated the Victoria High School Greens 8 to 6 in a keenly-contested game in the Victoria-Oak Bay High School Rugby League yesterday on the Fernwood grounds.

Early in the second half H. Brown opened the scoring for the Boys when he downed the ball over the line. Harry Olsen's kick failed.

Soon after E. Holyoak evened the score by scoring the Green's first try. J. McGarry's kick was wide.

Late in the second half H. Brown went over for Oak Bay. Harry Olsen made the kick, making the score 8 to 3 for the Boys.

In the last two minutes of the game Tom Carney scored the other three points for the Greens. Jim McGarry's kick failed.

Fraser Lister refereed.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

CAPITAL FOR A DAY

With a large part of the British army under Howe pounding at Philadelphia's gates, in September, 1777, the American Congress which had made the city its headquarters on May 10, 1777, was forced to take hasty flight.

Retreating into the interior of Pennsylvania, they reassembled in the town of Lancaster and held session there on September 27, 1777, thus making it the American capital for a single day.

Three days later, Congress convened at York, Pennsylvania, where it remained until June 27, 1778, when its members returned to Philadelphia.

Strange as it seems, America has had nine different capitals: Philadelphia, Baltimore, Lancaster, York, Princeton, Annapolis, Trenton, New York and Washington, D.C.

BALLOON CROSSING

In the light of the comparatively recent development of parachutes in aeronautics, it seems startling that as early as 1785 Jean Pierre Blanchard included a parachute in the construction of a balloon.

Whether or not the device would have proved of any great safety value in the event of a forced landing is questionable, but his knowledge of the principle still followed today is clearly evidenced.

The parachute balloon, also equipped with wings of rather doubtful value, successfully negotiated a crossing of the English Channel, January 7, 1785. As a passenger, Blanchard took along Dr. J. Jeffries, an American physician. When about one-third of the trip was completed, disaster almost struck. The balloon lost altitude rapidly. With everything movable thrown from the car, the balloon held its altitude but once again started to drop, after the completion of about two-thirds of the crossing. This time even the men's clothes were sacrificed to the waves below. The balloon rose and a while later descended safely on French soil for the first airway crossing of the English Channel.

Touring English Cricketers Draw

Time Limit Robs M.C.C. Side of Victory in Four-day Match Against Victoria at Melbourne; Voce and Barnett Out Through Injuries

Canadian Press

Melbourne, Nov. 10.—Carrying on from 294 runs for five wickets, Victoria today added ninety runs to bring its first-inning total to 384 and earn a draw with the touring Marylebone Cricket Club. The Englishmen posed 344 in their initial innings and had scored thirty-six with three wickets down when play ended today. Adverse weather conditions curtailed play in two days of the four-day match. The teams were on the field only a short time Saturday owing to rain, and heavy hailstorms considerably affected today's play.

I. S. Lee and B. A. Gregory wielded strong bats for Victoria, Lee smashing into 160 and Gregory 128 before being retired.

William Voce, Nottinghamshire, left-hand fast medium bowler, strained a chest muscle yesterday, and did not take the field today. He may be out of the game for a week or two. Also on the sideline is Gloucestershire's Charles Barnett, who is receiving massage treatment after a rib injury last Friday.

The English team, captained by G. O. Allen, Middlesex, will start a four-day contest against New South Wales at Sydney on Friday.

SEATTLE FIGHT

Seattle, Nov. 10.—Tait Littman, husky middleweight puncher from Milwaukee, Wis., and Allen Matthews, hard-hitting St. Louis, Mo., negro, clash tonight in a ten-round main event.

BIG YEAR FOR PRO GOLFERS

$200,000 Will Be at Stake in U.S. Tournaments Arranged For Next Year

Chicago, Nov. 10.—America's professional golfing brigade will fire at a $200,000 target next year.

The happy news was to be presented today at the opening session of the Professional Golfers' Association annual meeting by Robert E. Harlow, the tireless head of the organization's tournament bureau. The target will assume even greater proportions, Harlow said yesterday, if plans for a $25,000 all-star tournament are realized.

With the same list of tournaments that laid out a total of $156,745 for the 1936 campaign again lined up and to be augmented by new attractions, Harlow predicted pro golf's biggest money year for 1937.

CALIFORNIA PLAY

Starting with the $8,000 Los Angeles open January 9 to 11, the money brigade will work on a total of $25,000 in California. The Oakland open, January 22 to 24, will be worth $3,000. Then comes the $4,000 San Francisco open, January 27 to 31, with the Golden West campaign closing with the Catalina open, a $5,000 event, February 5 to 7.

The swing back into the south is scheduled to start with the $4,000 north and south open at Pinehurst, N.C. Bobby Jones' Masters Tournament with its $5,000 will be played at Augusta, Ga., April 1 to 4.

RESIGNS AS COACH

Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Dr. Gordon Burke has resigned as coach of the University of British Columbia's Canadian football team. It was announced on the campus yesterday.

Dr. Burke, who has coached the collegians for years, gave no reason for his resignation. No mention has been made of a successor.

Battaglia Wins Slugging Bout

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Scoring knock-downs in three rounds, Frankie Battaglia, 164, Winnipeg, outpointed Frankie Miko, 159, Saginaw, Mich., in a ten-round slugging match at Marigold Arena last night.

Battaglia had Miko on the canvas for nine counts twice in the fifth and knocked the game Michigan fighter down in the seventh and eighth rounds.

BAYS PRACTICE

The J.B.A.A. senior rugby squad will hold a workout this evening at Macdonald Park, at 6 o'clock. Members of the team are expected to arrive at the park on time and a full turnout is requested.

SOCCER PRACTICE

A workout of the Victoria City second division soccer team will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Central Park. All players and others interested are asked to attend.

Fifth Brigade Favored to Take Fordham Johnson Cup in Clash With Canadian Scottish at Macdonald Park; Kick-off at 3 o'Clock

In quest of the Fordham Johnson Cup, the prized trophy for which the regimental senior teams battled in previous years, Canadian Scottish and Fifth Brigade ruggers of smaller stature will clash at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Accompanied by the pipe and trumpet bands of the respective units, the teams will take the field with all the traditional color which has gone to make the annual army game one of the features of the local rugby year.

The Gunners were slightly favored today, following the announcement of teams yesterday evening.

Civic and other dignitaries are expected to attend the fixture. Premier T. D. Pattullo is scheduled to take the kick-off, and will present a ball to the winning team. Acting Mayor James Adam will be present and Hon. Eric W. Hamber has been invited to watch the fixture.

Members of the unit will attend in uniform to add to the color of the spectacle which will be enlivened by the regimental selections of the two opposing forces as played by their respective bands.

TEAMS NAMED

F. Sweetman is scheduled to handle the fixture for which the teams will line up as follows:

Fifth Brigade—Cozier, Smith, Bishop, Kirkbride, Winsky, Noel, Coomber, Russell, Bray, Guelphs, Lucas, Dalzell, Doherty, Pellett and Mylrae.

Canadian Scottish—Cooper, Buckley, Pearson, Edmonds, De Macedo, Anderson, A. Martin, Williams, Mylrae, Willard, Carney, Warwick, Holland, Holyoak and Morgan.

On Saturday the James Bay Athletic Association will wind-up its Barnard Cup campaign in the senior fixture against the Navy at Macdonald Park. Alan LeMarquand is scheduled to handle the fixture.

In the intermediate division the schedule calls for matches between the Fifth Brigade and the Navy at Macdonald Park with Benny McMillan blowing the whistle, and between the Canadian Scottish and Victoria College at Victoria High School grounds with C. E. Ley in charge.

BRITISH RIDER IS BRILLIANT

Lieut. Talbot-Ponsonby Clears Forty Jumps Perfectly at U.S. Horse Show

New York, Nov. 10.—In a bitterly fought duel, Lieut. J. A. Talbot-Ponsonby, young British Army officer, last night won the international individual military jumping title at the National Horse Show after being carried through four jump-fests by Capt. Eduardo Yanez, leader of the Chilean team.

Mounted on Kington, a giant gelding, Lieut. Talbot-Ponsonby cleared forty difficult jumps without a mishap to win before a crowd of more than 12,000.

Twenty other officers from seven nations started the competition, but it was Capt. Yanez, riding Toqui, who forced the British officer to the limit. Four other officers gave perfect performances the first time over the international course but after the initial jump-off all but the two finalists fell by the wayside.

Lieut. Douglas Cleland of the Canadian Army team, riding Margot, and Major John Dupka of the United States, upon Dakota, jumped off for third and fourth place after being among the six officers to get by the first test successfully. Third place went to Lieut. Cleland.

The hopes of Captain Stuart Bate of Canada, riding Squire, came to an end when the great gelding which was last year's champion of the show, knocked over the "hogs' back" Lieut. Marshall Cleland, up on Roxanna, bowled over one of the staggered fences to end his bid.

POSTPONE GOLF

The Memorial Day golf tournament of the inter-ex-servicemen's clubs, scheduled to be played at the Macaulay Point Golf Club, tomorrow, has been temporarily postponed, so as not to conflict with the Uplands Golf Club's tournament on the same day.

John Henry Lewis Batters Harvey For Fifteen Rounds

U.S. CHAMPION HAS NO TROUBLE BEATING BRITON

Light-heavyweight Titleholder Has Englishman on Verge of Knockout
12,000 Attend Bout at London

London, Nov. 10.—It appeared almost certain today that if John Henry Lewis of Phoenix, Ariz., the light-heavyweight champion, wants any real competition for his title he will have to seek it in America.

He had little trouble last night in turning back the challenge of England's Len Harvey in a fifteen-round bout in Wembley stadium.

Badly beaten after the third round and exhausted at the finish, Harvey barely missed being knocked out. The only dissenter in the crowd of 12,000 was Mrs. Harvey, the challenger's wife, who rushed to her husband's corner several times during the bout, and disagreed violently with the decision at the finish.

Harvey, who also promoted the bout, fied only two good punches.

The crowd fell short of the predicted record of 14,000. The King, whose presence at the ringside was believed possible, did not attend.

Harvey blamed his defeat on an injured right hand, saying "it went out of commission in the third round."

LEWIS HITS HARD

The two-fisted clouting of the Arizona negro had a great deal to do with it, however. After a couple of slow rounds, Lewis began pounding away with both hands and drove Harvey around the ring. The Briton's eye began to swell as early as the fifth round and his nose began bleeding a few rounds later.

Thiring rapidly under the bombardment, Harvey fired only two good punches. He smashed the champion with a terrific left hook to the head in the ninth, after firing a hard right in the sixth as the referee

Cohoe Contest Closes Nov. 15

Anglers Have But Five Days to Try For Awards at Cowichan Bay

Anglers have but five more days to land fish that will qualify for awards being presented by the Cohoe Club of Cowichan Bay, Wallace H. McMillan, founder of the club, made known today. The competition for prizes closes Sunday next, but button qualifications will continue until the end of the month.

A pair of gold button specimen cohoes were landed over the week-end at the bay, which saw good fishing conditions enjoyed. McMillan landed a sixteen and a half pound, while H. Plater reeled in a seventeen-pound specimen. Plater's catch placed him in line for the men's first prize in the competition. Mrs. J. P. Galloway, Vancouver, is leading the entire race with a seventeen and three-quarter pound fish, which makes her the leading contender for the Wallace McMillan Cup, symbol of the largest coho caught annually in Cowichan Bay. Providing no woman angler catches a larger fish within the short space of time left, Mrs. Galloway will also annex the women's first prize.

The following button fish were caught over the week-end: J. S. Bredwood, Victoria, 11½ pounds, bronze; Mrs. M. Washford, Victoria, 13½ pounds, silver; Eric Marshall, Victoria, 11½ pounds, bronze; H. Plater, Victoria, 17 pounds, gold; P. Harbord, Harbord, Cowichan Bay, 13 pounds 2 ounces, silver, and Wallace McMillan, Victoria, 16½ pounds, gold.

on the squatters' homes notifying them they must vacate by November 15.

The residents of the reserve will undertake to remove themselves from the reserve before March 31, 1937, if they are not evicted before that time, according to Mr. MacNeill's letter.

The letter stated sixty-eight persons would be affected by the eviction and gave reasons which they feel justify a delay in the eviction including the fact that some would be forced to go on relief.

TIRANA, Albania, Nov. 10.—King Zog yesterday appointed Koco Motta, president of parliament, to form a new Albanian government. Appointment of Koco Motta followed the resignation November 6 of Premier Mehdi Frashëri and his cabinet.

All Eyes on the Puck

"Keep your eyes on the puck" is one of the first rules of hockey. The above four National Hockey League players are living up to their training as they watch the disc, indicated by arrow, sail away from the net after Roy Worters, New York Americans' goalie, had made a save. The Americans and Chicago Black Hawks drew a 1 to 1 in one of the opening games of major hockey.

LEADING BOYS ON RING CARD

Arrange Good Preliminaries For Buxton-Pahl Show on November 18

With plans completed for the holding of the Canadian heavyweight championship fight between Sonny Buxton, Victoria title claimant, and Danny Pahl, Alberta, promoters were busy lining up the preliminary bouts.

The card will be staged at the Tillicum gym on November 18 with Charlie Ruskin, Vancouver, acting as promoter.

In addition to the ten-round main event Ruskin plans to use two light heavyweights in the semi-windup. Three local preliminaries and a special event will complete the programme.

Buxton will be up against a stiff opponent in Pahl. The Albert boy recently scored a technical knockout victory over Ben Shave, Seattle, who has held Buxton to three draws.

Both Buxton and Pahl will be in the city two or three days before the date of the fight, and will work out for the benefit of the fans.

Lions Whip Portland Buckaroos 1 to 0 as Pacific Coast League Ushers in Season; Jimmy Arnott Nets Winning Goal in Second Period

Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Vancouver Lions marked up victory number one in the Pacific Coast Hockey League record book today. They defeated Portland Buckaroos 1 to 0 here last night, with the aid of brilliant goaltending of Percy Jackson, Lion custodian.

Jimmy Arnott scored the lone goal of the encounter at the seven minute mark of the second period. Taking a pass from Captain "Tip" O'Neill halfway between the penalty-shot area and the Buckaroo goal, Arnott coasted in on Aitkenhead, Portland goalie, and let the puck fly from two feet out to put the rubber in the lower corner of the net.

Portland, having the advantage of the odd man for two minutes in the first period when Loren Mercer bodied Ron Sutherland, Buck defenceman, and was sent to the penalty bench, gave the Lions a hot time, but the seemingly a Jackson tossed all shots aside.

A CLOSE CALL

Norman (Dutch) Gainer, formerly with Boston Bruins and Montreal Maroons of the National Hockey League and last year with Calgary Tigers of the Northwestern League, combined with Eddie Oulette, second string Buckaroo forward for a smart combination play that ended up on top of the blocking Jackson, but failed to get by him.

The team follow:
Portland: Aitkenhead, Gainer, Sutherland, Blythe, Schaefer, Coupe, Sub: Martin, Jempson, Oulette, Chubby Scott.
Vancouver: Jackson, Mercer, Creasy, O'Neill, Carse, Palm. Sub: Arnott, Bealer, Rimstad, Sheppard. Referee—Pete Sande.

SUMMARY
First period—No score. Penalty: Mercer.
Second period—1. Vancouver, Arnott (Palm), 7:44. Penalty: Sutherland.
Third period. No score. Penalties: Rimstad, Sheppard, Jempson.

Guidance Of Papers Stressed

J. Bassett of Montreal Gazette Addresses Canadian Automobile Chamber

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 10.—When business leaders tend to "pin their faith to radio" it is important they realize the principles governing all self-respecting newspapers and importance of those papers in providing guidance through their editorial columns when institutions are crumbling. John Bassett, vice-president of The Montreal Gazette, said here yesterday evening.

The real function of a newspaper lay in its independence to applaud government when the government did right and to criticize government when it did wrong. Mr. Bassett said in a speech at the dinner of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

OLD NEWSPAPER
His paper, he recalled, was 158 years old. He said it had been founded by Benjamin Franklin to promote the cause of secession and continued in operation to preach loyalty to the Crown.

"It is important to you to understand the principles that govern all self-respecting newspapers," he said. "Today when business leaders tend to pin their faith to radio, it is important to consider the real scheme of things. All movements for good receive the support of the newspapers and those who attack the press might well consider how much it has done for good in the past."

"It possesses an important place among thinking people and by this I do not mean professors in a university or a specific few. I mean hard-headed men who consider the place a paper occupies in the community."

SMALL NEW STAR IS DISCOVERED

Associated Press
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 10.—A Polish astronomer yesterday discovered a new star speeding through the heavens in the constellation of Cassius, the Harvard Observatory announced.

The star is of the ninth magnitude and described as a peculiar type of small asteroid similar to the "deltaport object" which stirred astronomical circles last spring.

Private funeral services will be held on Thursday at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, and it is requested that no flowers be sent.

Firemen Ask Shorter Hours

Sixty-hour Week in All Organized Departments Requested of House

A sixty-hour week for all British Columbia's firefighters is asked in a bill which came before the municipal committee of the B.C. Legislature for scrutiny this morning.

A delegation appeared before the committee representing the B.C. Association of Firefighters, which is sponsoring the bill. Members of the delegation were E. A. Young, president, and W. Thompson, secretary, both of Vancouver, and W. Hulme, vice-president, of Victoria.

They explained that Vancouver is at present the only municipality in the province having the sixty-hour week, all other requiring their firemen to work seventy-two hours. The bill entails payment of the same rate of wages as now prevails.

Answering questions, members of the delegation said that in Vancouver the sixty-hour week has increased rather than impaired the efficiency of the fire department, and fire loss actually had been less since the schedule was adopted.

Representatives of Victoria City Council expressed opposition to the bill on the ground that it would entail adding ten men to the Victoria fire department at a cost of $6,500 a year. Representatives of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, who were also present, without interposing objections, expressed the view that it would increase costs of many municipalities.

The committee reserved decision on the bill. Gordon Wismer, Liberal, Vancouver Centre, is sponsoring the bill in the Legislature.

MARKET NOTES

The season's first shipment of New-town apples arrived on the local wholesale market from the Okanagan this morning. McIntosh, Jonathan and Delicious apples are already being retailed, and the late red varieties such as Spitzbergen, Wagener and others are expected in two or three weeks.

A carload of onions from the Okanagan and a carload from Kamloops were received here today. The market on onions is firm.

Two carloads of dry-belt potatoes from Ashcroft were also received on wholesale market this morning.

A shipment of California beans and peas arrived yesterday. The shipment came by rail to Seattle. A consignment of calavos and probably the last shipment this season of Tokay grapes arrived from California at the same time.

A shipment of 500 stems of bananas was received here yesterday from Central America.

The Women's Conservative Club will meet on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the headquarters. As important business will be considered all members are urged to attend.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A Chinese, who pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, was fined $25 in the City Police Court this morning.

Thieves, who entered the hall at St. John's Church, ransacked the collection box and stole the contents, according to a report to city police yesterday.

The monthly meeting of the Vancouver Island Bee Keepers' Association will be held in the Y.M.C.A. tonight instead of the Y.W.C.A. as previously announced. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

The tender of Robert Rankin, tailor, for thirty-seven pairs of pants and six topcoats, was accepted by the City Police Commission at a brief meeting yesterday, called to consider the clothing prices.

A permit for a $3,500 addition to the Tweedsmuir Mansions, on Park Boulevard, was taken out by C. M. Forrest at the city building inspector's department today. The addition will be built by Eli Hume and Sons, contractors.

Col. Ross Napier's song, "I've Seen Marie," and other songs and poems by the local writer, will be featured by Ernest J. Colton in his broadcast tomorrow at 12:15 o'clock from CKWX, Vancouver.

Presence of three typhoid fever cases in the city was explained today by Alderman J. D. Hunter, chairman of the city's health committee. The cases, residents of "Castlegar," contracted the disease while en route to Victoria to visit relatives. They are being treated here and are under quarantine in a Montrose Street hospital. All contacts have been checked, the alderman said.

Bob Acton gave a talk on amateur radio at the regular meeting of the Victoria High School Science Club yesterday. He illustrated his talk with his own short-wave set. George Dawson gave a talk on mineralogy and showed a number of interesting specimens. At the last meeting George Dawson was elected president, D. Goodwin vice-president and Jim Wood secretary.

The Victoria and Island Branch, Canadian Authors' Association, will hold its November meeting on Thursday evening, 8 o'clock, at the Women's Institute rooms, 635 Fort Street. V. L. Denton will give an address on a literary subject to be announced later. The prizes awarded in the short-story contest will be presented, and there will be several musical numbers. Visiting writers, or other interested friends will be welcomed.

Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold their weekly card party tonight at the Rooms, 414 Skinner Street. Good prizes will be given and the committee will serve refreshments. The club has now secured the services of Scott's old-time orchestra for their Saturday night dances, with Scotty McKenzie as M.C. The dances are becoming well known and everybody is sure of a hearty welcome and a good time.

Looking over the northeast following retirement, L. Bousfield, former president of the Bousfield Woodware Company of Minneapolis, Minn., is at the Empress Hotel today with Mrs. Bousfield and her sister, Miss Dorothy Laidenburger. Mr. Bousfield said he had recently sold his plant at Minneapolis. While on the coast he took the opportunity of inspecting the General Package Company at Aberdeen, Wash., formerly operated by his brother and sold about a year ago.

A good gathering of members and their friends of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion is expected this evening for the Remembrance Day concert, to be staged in the branch headquarters, View Street. ## Privett Wins Crash Costs

The claim of Arthur C. Privett against the Merchants Transfer & Storage Company, et al, was sustained by Judge H. H. Shandley in a judgment handed down today.

Mr. Privett sued the defendant company for $100.27 following an automobile accident in the summer at the intersection of Blanshard and Johnson Streets, his car, an Austin sedan, and a truck owned by the transfer company collided. The Privett car was overturned and burst into flames.

The hearing proceeded in County Court here last week.

In his judgment, Judge Shandley found the driver of the defendant company's truck did not keep a proper lookout.

CITY TIMBER DEAL ARGUED

Lumber Delegation Carries Fight to House on Victoria Watershed Proposal

A keen dispute over the merits and demerits of selective logging and the deal for thinning out Victoria's watershed at Sooke arose in the private bills committee of the Legislature this morning.

G. H. Walton and J. O. Cameron of the Victoria Lumbermen's Association, appeared in bitter opposition to the scheme and matched arguments with D. S. Tait, representing E. P. Garterson, who is to get the contract, and G. M. Irwin, city water commissioner.

The city, in its private bill, is seeking authority to sell the watershed timber on a selective logging basis.

Chief objections raised by the lumber delegation were that the city proposed to accept from 1 to 1½ cents a foot for poles, when the open selling price was 3 to 6 cents; that logging of any kind would tear up the watershed and create irreparable ruin; and that for the amount the city would get, $150,000 over ten years, the probable damage to the investment in the watershed was not worth it.

Experience showed, said Mr. Cameron, that streams would dry up after logging operations and the conservation of water would be seriously hampered.

"We've got the best water supply and the best water system I know of in British Columbia," he said, "and if I had my life to live again I'd stick by the land, only I'd be connected with some phase of soil work. There's no doubt about that."

DIRECTORS OF KIWANIS NAMED

Annual Report Points to Many Activities of Last Year

The Victoria Kiwanis Club elected its board of directors for the year, 1936-37, at its luncheon today after a second ballot had been necessitated by a quadruple tie for the last two places to be filled on the first vote.

Directors elected were Harry E. Douglas, Harold M. Diggon, Dr. J. Ewart Gee, David McMillan, Edward Mallek, W. Murray Martindale and A. C. Stickley.

William Luney, retiring president, in his annual report, reviewed the activities of the club during the year.

ACHIEVEMENTS

In reviewing the club's achievements during the year, Mr. Luney pointed to the collection of the sum of $2,858.42 in the annual Tuberculosis seal campaign, bringing the total raised by the Kiwanis Club for this objective to $31,000. He also mentioned the support of a boy's group at the Y.M.C.A. the raising of $159 on a Christmas raffle, devoted to providing Christmas dinners for unfortunate men at the Sunshine Inn, the erection of a bench at the head of the Ogden Point breakwater, the sponsoring of an indoor track meet, the bringing to Victoria of the United Victory of British Columbia Players, and the organization of children's traffic patrols at city schools.

Saanchi Police Locate Signs of Attack on Beaver Lake Road

Investigation by Saanchi police today disclosed the secluded spot off the East Saanchi Road, where Bachan Singh, 820 Bay Street, middle-aged East Indian, was attacked on Sunday and left in a semi-conscious state.

About 200 yards from the highway along the Beaver Lake Road, Chief Allan Rankin and Constable J. Bull this morning found signs of a terrific struggle in the underbrush and also a handful of hair, believed to have been pulled from Bachan's head.

They also learned today the injured man was robbed of $56.

Bachan was found by police Sunday evening after he had walked to a small store on the East Road. He had a severe gash over his brow, discolored eyes and a bruised cheek. He was unable to give a coherent story of the attack to police.

He was making satisfactory progress at the Jubilee Hospital today and it was expected he would be released this afternoon.

Late this afternoon police intimated arrest might be made shortly in connection with the attack.

U.S. People Seek To Settle Here

Since the re-election of President Roosevelt, inquiries are being received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from citizens of the United States seeking information about taxation and other matters with the apparent intention of coming to Vancouver Island to settle. Theft of fifteen electric light globes from Centennial United Church was reported yesterday to city police.

HENRY RIVE My Boyhood Ambition

A Farmer

"My first ambition? I don't think I had any I was quite a peaceful youngster," said Henry Rive, provincial dairy commissioner, but added, "I always wanted to be a farmer."

Born at St. Heliers, Island of Jersey, Mr. Rive earned his first dollar or, rather, his first shilling on a market garden there. His first job was on a farm, but he left the land for the cheese and creamery factories when he came to Canada as a "teen aged youngster in 1899."

When he had saved up enough money he went to the University of Toronto and graduated in agriculture in 1911, and from there graduated to his present position.

His first job in British Columbia was as official tester on the farm of J. M. Steves, Steveston, in the days when Holstein men were keen on the expensive seven and thirty-day testing of cows milked four times a day.

Mr. Rive became dairy instructor in the Provincial Department of Agriculture in 1911, and from there graduated to his present position.

INCREASE IN RELIEF HERE

Seasonal Jumps in Family Units and Single Group in October

Seasonal increases in the ranks of Victoria's unemployed set in last month, according to October figures issued by the city department today.

The number of family units rose from the record low of 730 in September to 755 in October, an increase of twenty-five.

The figure, however, remained far below that for the similar month last year. In October, 1935, there were 843 families on relief.

The single lists also climbed. Against 429 in September this year and 386 in October, 1935, the figures for last month were 446.

The increases were largely of a seasonal nature, although in the single division the larger number of men whose stakes from camp work have expired swelled the total.

Poppies Serve Threefold Aim

Sale of Tiny Emblem Means Much to Ex-servicemen at Workshop

"Buy a poppy for Armistice Day." This simple appeal means more than "just another tag" for it carries behind it a request to the public to assist in a three-fold mission which the poppies perform among ex-servicemen of British Columbia.

It is the response to this appeal which made possible material assistance last year to 406 families, comprising 1,570 ex-servicemen in British Columbia last year, and steady employment for about ten men at the Red Cross Workshop on Johnson Street. The third achievement of these tiny red emblems is to perpetuate the memory of the greatest sacrifice a man can make for his country.

Last year the poppy sale brought $3,200 to the Red Cross shop. When it is realized that practically all of this goes towards labor, with a very minor portion for materials, it becomes easy to comprehend what it means to those disabled men who are being rehabilitated in the Johnson Street quarters by receiving helpful employment.

In the small room at the rear of the workshop, where the men are employed, 229,067 poppies have been manufactured for distribution throughout British Columbia this year. This total includes all sizes. Orders were also received for 1,081 wreaths.

Last year the shop manufactured 266,114 poppies and 1,081 wreaths. This year, officials happily report, will be one of the most successful years for the sale of poppies, indicating the significance poppy day is growing among the public.

Finds Bargain Not So Cheap

Young Woman, Victimized On Purchase of Bedspread, Takes Trouble to Police Headquarters

Women who are victimized by super sales talks give vent to their feelings in various ways, but it is seldom their ire leads them to the point of calling in the police.

This was the case, however, with a young lady—who, incidentally is a promising local golfer—who was the victim of a persuasive saleswoman recently.

The lady selling her wares called on the young woman with an attractive looking bedspread priced at $14. The young lady thought the bargain a good one and purchased the spread.

All would have been well, with both parties satisfied, if the young woman had not walked into a local

SEES CLUBS AS AID TO EUROPE

Leo M. Sweeney, Vancouver, Tells Kiwanians of Rapid Trip on Continent

The formation of Kiwanis Clubs in Europe was suggested to the local organization at its luncheon today by Leo M. Sweeney, Vancouver, as a solution for that continent's amonities by permitting the free exchange of ideas.

Mr. Sweeney reviewed in an amusing manner his impressions during a whirlwind trip through Europe which lasted fifty-five days, covered 24,000 miles, took him through eight countries, using seven currencies, and speaking six languages, and during which he visited forty-four cities and slept in forty different beds.

He went over to England on board the R.M.S. Queen Mary on her record-breaking trip, and the reception at Southampton made him revise his ideas of the remoteness of the English.

His chief impressions of Britain were: The existence of much great countryside in spite of terrible congestion in urban districts, the general boom in business, the fact that he was drinking—even on board Irish channel ships at 5 o'clock in the morning—seemed to be the national pastime; the speed of the underground in London and the extraordinary driving of the buses, the great size of the bath towels, the efficiency of office girls which amounted almost to brutality, the smallness of the freight cars, the oldness of many places and the speed and efficiency of the trains.

In Ireland he witnessed a Tourist Trophy automobile race on a rain covered course in which eight people were killed, and also a hurling match between Londonderry and Kilkenny.

Holland he found a bright, flat, clean country, notable for the number of bicycles and wooden shoes.

France impressed him by the fact that preparations were being rushed ahead for the international exposition in Paris next year in spite of government troubles and strikes.

He had no difficulty at all getting into Germany, in spite of what he had been told, and found the people flourishing physically and seeming content under Nazi government. He saw few signs of militarism.

The great thing about the German and Italian forms of government, he said, was the absence of strikes and Communism.

"As far as I can see Germany and Italy are two of the greatest bulwarks against the threat of world Socialism," said Mr. Sweeney.

The speaker, president-elect of the Vancouver Kiwanis Club, was introduced by William Luney, retiring president of the Victoria club, and thanked by Elwood Watkiss.

WARN AGAINST
BUCKET SHOPS
London, Nov. 10.—London's big banks and brokers have opened war against bucket shops and share pushers.
A recent wave of high stock prices and heavy trading on the stock exchange brought out scores of unprincipled operators who took advantage of the speculative fever to unload worthless securities on the gambler public.
As a result, the National Provincial Bank, the Westminster Bank and Lloyd's Bank warned their customers against dealing with unknown brokers or purchasing unproved stocks or bonds.
Financial circles declare public authorities are hampered in their efforts to stamp out the practice because of inadequate laws. There are suggestions the government be urged to enact legislation to stem the losses of those ensnared by unworthy salesmen. Another suggestion has been that all brokers be required to register after being approved by some central authority.

Would Free Mayor And Brown of Ban

City Council Seeks Legislative Action to Relieve Council Leaders of Disqualification Threat on Henley Refund Plan

Legislative action to relieve Mayor David Leeming and Alderman P. R. Brown of charges of disqualification, arising out of the original Henley refund scheme resolution, and to allow them to resume their council duties without the threat of pending court action, will be sought by the City Council.

At its meeting yesterday, the council endorsed a resolution to that effect, with Alderman Andrew Mc-
Gavin voting alone in the negative.
Other members of the council who had opposed the Henley scheme when it was passed last year, the remainder of the city body know their stand supporting the removal of the ban on the council and Alderman Brown: did not indicate a change in their views on the refunding scheme.

RESOLUTION
The resolution, passed on the recommendation of the finance and legislative committee, follows:
"That the city solicitor be instructed to make application to the private bills committee of the Legislature to have inserted in the city's private bill a provision that no qualified person shall be disqualified from holding the office of mayor or alderman or be subject to any liability or penalty whatsoever by reason of the passing by the council at its regular meetings held on the 28th and 31st days of August, 1936, of resolutions relating to the appointment of a fiscal agent of the corporation and the payment to him of certain moneys to be applied as stated in said resolutions and by reason of such member acting or voting in favor thereof or acting or voting thereafter as a member of the council."

with a citation of the complete resolution clauses relating to fees and disbursements passed by the council on those occasions. The original refund resolution was later changed.

The motions seeking legislative action was moved by Alderman J. D.
Hunter, acting chairman of the finance committee. It required no explanation, he said, adding it concerned all the aldermen.

Alderman McGavin asked why all that verbiage had been compiled and asked the mover if he intended to take it all to the government.

Acting mayor James Adam said he had developed the entire preamble was included in the resolution but thought the motion was merely to lift the ban from the mayor and Alderman Brown.

That was all it aimed to do,
Alderman R. A. C. Dewar said.

TO REMOVE WRIT
Alderman Walter Lunsy, seconder of the motion, said the aim of the move was to have the provincial government declare the original Henley refund scheme resolution null and void in order to let the mayor and Alderman Brown regain their seats in the council. He had nothing against the mayor and alderman, he said, adding he did not understand why the rest of the council had not also been subject to the same disqualification charge that had been levelled against the two. They had been appointed by council vote, not at their request, he said.

He explained the reason Alderman
Brown had been named for the delegation originally was to guard against failure of the mission through possible ill health of the mayor.

Acting mayor Adam said he wished to clarify the issue. The vote would be solely for the re-establishment of the mayor and Alderman Brown. It would not change the position of those aldermen who had voted against the refunding scheme.

Alderman Archie Willis noted the measure was a manoeuvre to place the onus for the re-establishment of the mayor and Alderman Brown on an unquestioned basis. It was not a move to jockey the aldermen opposed to the Henley scheme into a position where they appeared to approve the plan.

"I think the council is going out of its way," Alderman McGavin said.
Why, he asked, should the city body go out of its way to back a move against action taken by a city taxpayer who secured a writ against the mayor and Alderman Brown.
"My answer would be this," Acting-mayor Adam said, "the mayor and Alderman Brown acted, after securing legal advice, along lines for the betterment of the city, as they believed, not for their own personal good."

RECALLED POLICE COMMISSION
Alderman McGavin recalled the police commission issue. The members of the council, at the time the elective system was abolished, were not so anxious to have him reinstated, he said.

Alderman Hunter remarked he had no doubt the mayor and Alderman Brown were acting for what they thought was the good of the city when they supported the Henley refunding scheme.

"As far as Alderman Brown and the mayor are concerned, they're as innocent as babes in the woods," Alderman O'Neil said in support of their good intentions. "If there was anything the council could do to protect them, he thought the council should take that action."

Alderman McGavin held the city was trying to get the provincial government to interfere with the council.

This might be true if the alderman wished to put it that way, H. S.
Pringle, city solicitor, said.

SHOULD HELP PAIR
Alderman Dewar voiced the opinion the council should do what it could to help the pair out of a position into which they had fallen after securing legal advice.

Mr. And Mrs.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am nineteen and on the verge of marrying a good dependable man, but I don't know whether or not I love him. He insists on seeing me every night and all day Sunday. I get sick of having him about so much. I get sick of his way of thinking. I should marry, I feel that I am too young to enter such a serious thing as marriage, but my home environment gets me so disgusted I feel like marrying anyone to get away. My father drinks a lot and my mother quarrels with him. I do all the housework and work out, too, and am nervous and sick half the time. My mother thinks I should marry, for my fiance is good to me and to her. We have set the wedding date and bought part of our furniture, but I am crazy with worry, so please tell me what to do?

UNDECIDED.

Answer—Call off the wedding or you will go wholly crazy when you realize that you are bound for life to a man who is distasteful to you. Get on your nerves so badly that you cannot stand him for his sake as well as for your own, for no man can be happy with a wife who merely tolerates him.

Don't marry any man unless you love him so well that his mere presence fills you with happiness and a sense of well-being and you count the hours between his visits. Marriage lasts for a long, long time, and it will seem longer if you are united to a husband who bores you, or whose little ways irritate you, or who for some reason that you cannot explain even to yourself you cannot bring yourself to care for.

Marriage, even under the best conditions and to the best of men, is a hard road for every woman to travel. For her it is bound to be full of sacrifices, of adapting herself to another, of giving up her own desires and tastes and hopes and ambitions for her husband; of the pain of bearing children and the endless labor of rearing them; and nothing but a great love makes it worth while to a woman. Without love, it is a purgatory.

Don't waste any time wondering if you are in love or not. When you are, you will know it in every fibre of your being. You won't be sick of having the boy you are in love with hanging around. You will want him about all the time. You won't dread your wedding day, you'll want to hurry it up.

Don't marry because your home conditions are unsatisfactory. A lot of girls do that, and they find they have just jumped out of the frying pan into the fire. If you're unhappy at home, you can leave and get a job somewhere else. Or a Fairy Prince may come riding by and take you off with him to his palace, where you will live happy ever after.

But, if you are married, your fate is sealed, and there is no escaping it except by way of the divorce court, which is messy and expensive. And a husband who is tyrannical can give a tyrannical father tips on how to be mean and bossy or teach a nagging mother how to really nag and fault-find.

At nineteen the world is all before you. There is romance for you. There is happiness for you if you will just wait for them to come to you. Don't spoil everything by rushing into marriage before you are ready for it by marrying a man you don't love and who bores you.

DEAR MISS DIX—Won't you please say a word about streamlining as it applies to the human female form? Does the end justify the means? A dear friend has been visiting me for a few days and I am appalled at the price she has paid for a string-bean figure. During a two-month self-imposed starvation period she has lost some thirty pounds and with it her sense of humor and the amiable nature that were her greatest charms. Her sweet disposition has given place to carping fault-finding. She was nervous and cross, and nothing pleased her. Her one and only topic of conversation was diet. Why do women do it? Is it worth it? Do they go through this martyrdom just to please men?

HAZEL MCKAY.

Answer—Only God, who made that curious jumble of contradictions that we are pleased to call the feminine mind, knows why women will endure suffering that equities them to a place among the martyrs, destroy their health and risk death itself in order to reduce themselves to a pack of bones. It's inexplicable from any angle and, believe me, "angle" is the word for it.

But they do it. Half of the entire feminine population is on some sort of a diet and the crazier it is, the more they pursue it. Most of the conversation that you hear at women lunches is about the relative merits of fruit juices and spinach, or the thinning properties of butterless or how much they lost on mutton chops and pineapple. Beauty-shops grow rich on steaming and heating off pounds and stout ladies weep into their plates as they pass up lobster thermidor and mayonnaise for a cracker-and-dishwater consommé.

Why they do it, nobody knows. A living skeleton is nobody's idea of beauty. Nobody enjoys gazing upon an anatomical exhibit, yet nightly we are called upon to count the nobby vertebrae and the all-too-visible ribs of practically every woman at a party, and to speculate upon how much better they would look if concealed by a few layers of flesh. Nor are stringy arms and pipe-stemmed legs anything to write a song about, especially as the latter are displayed in shorts.

But why do women do it? Not for their health's sake, for virtually every doctor warns his patients against the danger of reducing. Not for men's admiration, because men generally prefer curves to angles, and like a good arm full rather than something they are afraid they will skin their arms on. And when they want to marry they prefer a girl who looks corned and hearty, rather than one who looks like an incipient case of T.B.

Certainly married women don't reduce in order to retain their husband's affections, for it is well known to all and sundry that husbands foam at the mouth at the mere mention of diet, for it means skimpy meals for the family and having to put up with the temper of a woman who is as violent as a half-starved tigress. But it does no good to argue with a woman with a dieting fad. Her aim in life is to become a perfect thirty-eight and she will do it or die. As she frequently does.

Uncle Wiggily And the Arrows

By HOWARD R. GARIS
"Cat-choo! Cat-choo! Cat-choo!" Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty, who had gone to the garden to get the carrots for Thanksgiving pie, heard this funny noise all of a sudden. The two rabbits didn't keep on toward the hollow stump bungalow as they intended. Instead they stopped and hid behind a pile of dried bean bushes.

"What was it, Uncle Wiggily?" whispered Baby Bunty.

"I don't know," whispered Uncle Wiggily. "We must keep quiet and listen. It may be Jack-o'-Lantern or may be."

"Yes, yes, go on, please," said Bunty as Uncle Wiggily stopped.

"I don't want to alarm you," said the rabbit gentleman, "but I was going to say perhaps it may be the Bad Chaps."

"I'm not afraid of the Bad Chaps," declared Bunty bravely. "Not when you're with me, Uncle Wiggily."

"Thank you," said the rabbit gentleman smiling beneath his pink nose, which wasn't twinkling just then. "If this is a Bad Chap I may think of a way to fool him."

HEARD AGAIN

"I hope so," said Bunty, and just then, all of a sudden again, "Cat-choo! Cat-choo! Cat-choo!"

"It's just some one sneezing," said Bunty, almost ready to laugh.

"Even Bad Chaps sneeze," said Uncle Wiggily. "Don't go on yet, but be and Bunty remained hidden behind the bean bushes and then a voice Mr. Longears well remembered said:

"What do you want to go and sneeze out your name for?"

"That's the Fox!" whispered Mr. Longears.

"Sneezing my name what way, er-u-u-sue-cat-choo!" said another voice.

"Cat-choo! Cat-choo! Cat-choo!" said the first voice. "Why don't you say right out you're the Bob Cat—not just cat-choo!"

"You're stuttering," said the Bob Cat, for he it was, as Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty well knew this time.

"I'm not stuttering!" yapped the Fox.

"Yes, you are," sneezed the Bob Cat. "You keep saying 'cat-choo' all the while."

"Just to show you how silly it sounded for you to be sneezing out so loud 'cat-choo! cat-choo,' my friend," sneezed the Fox.

"CAN I HELP IT?"

"Can I help it if I have a cold?" asked the Bob Cat.

"Well, we came here to hide quietly and

Reserve Decision
On C.N.R. Appeals

Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Decision was reserved in the Court of Appeal yesterday on the joint appeals of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine Limited and the Canadian National Steamship Company Limited.

The appeal was from an order of Chief Justice Morrison, giving M. Desbriay & Company, who named the appellants defendants in a $19,400 suit, liberty to amend their statement of claim.

Desbriay & Company claimed $19,400 for 1,588 cases of canned salmon which were lost in the fire that destroyed the Canadian National dock here six years ago.

RUINED BY FIRE

St. Peter's, N.S., Nov. 10. (Canadian Press).—The charred bulk of the 21-ton freight and passenger steamer Enterprise drifted off the shore here today, abandoned by its crew after fire burned to her waterline.

The steamer caught fire from an undetermined cause yesterday evening in view of spectators on shore. Captain Edward Leblanc and his crew of eight fought the blaze unsuccessfully before taking to the boats.

The Enterprise was built fifteen years ago at Lunenburg, N.S.

Collision In Havana Harbor

Associated Press
Havana, Nov. 10.—The Peninsular and Occidental steamer Cuba, bound for Key West, was reported today to have been in collision with the Orca liner Santa Barbara at the docks in Havana Harbor. No casualties were reported.

Port police said the steamer was damaged near the waterline and would be unable to sail. The Santa Barbara will sail after minor repairs.

By Freighter

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Nov. 10.—The United States District Attorney's office yesterday ordered an investigation of the story told by four men who said they were put adrift on a small raft by the captain of a freighter who discovered them as stowaways.

Then men said they stowed away on the freighter at Ponce, Puerto Rico. They said that after they were discovered they were cast adrift on a small raft with only a loaf of bread and a bottle of water sixteen miles off shore.

A fishing schooner picked up the stowaways twelve hours later as they were attempting to reach the shore by paddling with their hands.

DRIFTED TWO DAYS

Catchogue, N.Y., Nov. 10.—After drifting for two and a half days in Long Island Sound without food or drink, John Edwards, fifty-four, of Saybrook, Conn., stumbled ashore at daybreak yesterday, crying "Water! Water!"

Edwards told how he had lost the oars of his rowboat when it struck a buoy in the darkness at 8 p.m. Crying ashore at daybreak yesterday, crying "Water! Water!"

Young German Lad, Safe in England, Tells of Fierce Gale Which Caused His Ship to Founder and His Thirty-nine Companions to Lose Lives

Associated Press

London, Nov. 10.—A flash of quick-thinking, just a few seconds before he lost consciousness, saved the life of seventeen-year-old Fritz Roethke, cabin boy and lone survivor of the foundered Hamburg-American motorship Isis, it was disclosed today.

Still exhausted from his twelve-hour ordeal on a storm-swept sea, alone in a lifeboat, Fritz further described his narrow escape from death through an interpreter.

"Just before I lost consciousness, I jammed myself under the seat of the lifeboat."

"Lucky I was small. The next thing I knew, hours later, I was still alive and safe."

Fritz was weak and shaken when he arrived aboard the Isis, Westernland, which found him alone in a bobbing lifeboat after a fierce Atlantic gale had beached in the hatches of the Isis and sent the ship to the bottom, along with its crew of thirty-nine, about 200 miles off Land's End, England.

Wrapped in blankets, Fritz told Captain Ferdinand Kahlbeiter, commander of the Westernland, how the storm smashed in the Isis' number one hatch and water poured into the vessel. The captain mustered his crew on deck, he related, but hoped the Isis could resist until a rescue ship answered the SOS call.

HEAVY LIST CAUSED

"At 8 p.m., he went on, 'a big breaker came over the ship and apparently bulkhead number two was way, causing a heavy list to port with the boat deck one foot above water. We all held on for our lives.'"

"The captain shouted to the chief officer to launch boat number two. Some shipmates and I went to the boat when—bang—another breaker struck, smashing the boat completely."

"I saw the fore part of the ship completely submerged. The stern was almost straight up. Down it went, slowly."

"I was awfully scared. I saw my mates spill off into the water. I heard their calls for help, which gradually died away until only the sound of water was heard. Then all was black and lonely."

"I saw an upturned boat and made for it. . . . I found another mate clinging to it. Another breaker turned the boat right side up, and I was able to scramble into it."

The other's hand loosened and he was swept out of sight.

"Hours and hours it seemed I held on. Up and down the waves tossed me. Then I saw a ship. I waved a hand and the next thing I remember I found myself in the Westernland's hospital."

ENGINE CREW IS

Associated Press

Shreveport, La., Nov. 10.—Women strike sympathizers beat a locomotive crew on the Louisiana and Arkansas Railroad at Minden, La., while officials investigated a fatal collision of two freight trains further up the line.

The wreck, which killed four men early yesterday, was not blamed on strikers.

Sheriff O. H. Hayes of Webster parish reported about a score of men and women clambered aboard an engine at the south end of the Minden yards last night and severely beat Engineer H. E. Cole and Fireman C. H. Walters. Their clothing was torn in the melee.

Three other trainmen have died in train wrecks and an ambushing since strike September 19 for higher wages and better working conditions. Railroad officials attributed the sporadic outbursts to "agitators."
